British Troops Capture Vital Road Junction of Heinsberg

Not All Escape

Hordes of Nazi Refugees Flee Before Soviet Tide

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Hordes of German refugees streamed out of Poland and Eastern Germany yesterday as Berlin admitted the Russian tide still was largely unchecked.

The refugees—women, children and aged—swarmed the roads of Eastern Germany, backtracking the paths over which the German army swept in opening its war of conquest more than five years ago. Many of them came from the "Lebensraum" Hitler stole from Poland, some out of the menaced eastern provinces of Germany itself. Not all got away, for at least 200,000 German civilians were reported by a Paris radio dispatch from Moscow to have been found by the Russians in Lodz alone.

Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar, German military commentator, warned the home front that the problem of "when and where to stem the Red flood will give us many a day's headache," and that the situation "balances on a knife's blade."

Military spokesmen said, according to Stockholm dispatches, that it was not too late to save upper Silesia, that East Prussia and Poznan could be counted as lost.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—(BUP)—British Second Army troops captured Heinsberg, vital road junction 15 miles west of the industrial town of Munchen-Gladbach today in advances all along the line between the Maas and the Roer as signs mounted that the Germans were hastily withdrawing strength from the western front to meet the crisis in the east.

Montfort, seven miles northwest of Heinsberg and Haaren in the same area, also fell to Lt. Gen. Sir Miles Dempsey's spearheads.

Other British forces in southeast Holland captured Massbracht, and Bracteebeek, five miles southeast of Roermond, and St. Joost farther southwest, while the south American forces were rolling steadily ahead as the Tactical Air Force struck at Nazi convoys moving east.

NAZIS MOVE TROOPS

Reports came from several sectors of the front indicating that the fighting in the west was being affected by the German efforts to bolster the lines shattered by the Red Army in the east.

Along the British-held Dutch front correspondents reported two German divisions definitely had been pulled out of the line and sent east. RAF and American Tactical Air Forces reported heavy movement of German military traffic on the lines leading away from the Ruhr.

The RAF and RCAF reported they had hit more than 160 German aircraft.

REPORT "BIG 3" MEET SLATED ON RUSS SOIL

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, Jan. 24.—(BUP)—The London Times said today in a Lisbon dispatch that there never was much likelihood of the Big Three meeting would be held anywhere but on Russian soil, and the present Red Army offensive makes this even more likely.

"A meeting in the Black Sea zone is much spoken of as a probability," the dispatch said. It said President Roosevelt would visit American troops in Italy and France after meeting Marshal Stalin "if circumstances permit."

Make Search For Army Deserters

Although military and RCMP officials here neither affirmed or denied that a concerted effort to round up deserters of home defence troops in this area is in progress, military personnel on duty or on leave in the city said there has been a great deal of activity on the part of provost police.

One soldier on leave in Edmonton said he was stopped four times Tuesday and asked for his pass. Others reported being checked frequently by military police for passes or identification cards.

RCMP heads made no direct reply when asked if men in civilian clothes were being questioned on the streets.

A police head stated: "We are continuing to assist the military authorities in the enforcement of the National Resources War Mobilization Act."

He would not state whether or not a special drive against deserters is now underway.

Superforts Again Strike at Japan

GUAM, Jan. 24.—(AP)—United States Superfortresses flying in tight formations for protection against fierce Japanese air resistance bombed factories at Nagoya, Japan, yesterday, one B-29 was lost.

A sizable force of the Marianas-based bombers (Tokyo radio said there were "some 70") hit the industrial city of Honshu island. Swarms of enemy fighter planes met the raiders. Raging fires reported many of the interceptors were shot down, observers in one B-29 alone reporting they saw 15 enemy planes destroyed. (Washington announced the damage or destruction of 62 enemy planes.)

Anti-aircraft fire hit the B-29 that was lost. It crashed in flames into the sea a few miles off Honshu.

NEARLY MILLION MEN It had provided almost 1,000,000 men for the three services and had believed the voluntary system could continue to provide needed reinforcements.

He had appealed to the men of the NRMA. Prime Minister Mackenzie King had also appealed to them.

Say Von Papen Heads German Peace Mission

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—The Ankara radio reported from a "reliable source" today that Franz Von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, had arrived at Madrid at the head of a German peace mission.

The Ankara report said Von Papen had the "confidence of the German army," and that he was going to "sound the possibilities for the best possible terms for Germany."

Similar unconfirmed reports have come from neutral capitals in the past when German war fortunes were taking a turn for the worse, always without confirmation.

Widely-Known Alberta Soldier Is Awarded DSO

Award of the Distinguished Service Order to Lt. Col. J. R. Stone, MC, who is well-known to many servicemen here, and who is serving with the Canadian Infantry Corps in the Mediterranean theatre of war as officer commanding The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, was announced on Wednesday by national defence department headquarters.

This award was included in a list comprising 35 DSO's, 12 Military Crosses, one Distinguished Conduct Medal and 21 Military Medals.

The other Alberta resident included was Tpr. Bernard Condon, of Ruisly, who was awarded the Military Medal.

Lt. Col. James Riley Stone was born at Winterburn, Gloucestershire, England, Feb. 8, 1908, later moving to Blueberry Mountain, in the Peace River district, where he was living at the time of his enlistment.

Airplane Carries Vaccine to North

A specially chartered CP Air Lines Ltd. plane is expected to leave here early Thursday for the north with a quantity of vaccine that may be needed to combat a threatened smallpox epidemic at Rocher River, a trading post 70 miles east of Fort Resolution on Great Slave Lake.

Request to send the vaccine north was received from the Federal government by L. E. Drummond, secretary-manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines, and agent for the administrator of the Northwest Territories in Edmonton.

Mr. Drummond said the report received at Ottawa was vague, a small Indian child having had the symptoms of smallpox.

As a precautionary measure the vaccine is being rushed north. The plane will pick up a doctor at Fort Smith, who will proceed to Rocher River to investigate.

Mover, Seconder Speech Chosen

Mrs. Rose Wilkinson, of Calgary, and R. D. Jorgenson, of Pembina, will move and second the Speech from the Throne when the legislature opens Feb. 22, Premier Manning said Wednesday.

Both Social Credit members were elected at the August provincial election.

Preparations for the session are progressing satisfactorily, Premier Manning added.

Calgary Girl, 12, Fatally Injured

CALGARY, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Her identity unknown for more than four hours, 12-year-old Carmen Smithers, daughter of Mrs. Mary Smithers, was fatally injured in collision with an automobile at 6th avenue and 4th street east, about 7:05 p.m. Tuesday. She died about 40 minutes later in hospital.

Missions to Keep Watch For Allied Prisoners of War

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—(AP)—British and United States military missions in Moscow have asked the Russians to be on special lookout for hundreds of British and American war prisoners who had been in German prison camps in western Poland and in Silesia.

It was believed here that while a great many camps have been moved, the Germans had no time to transfer them all before the areas were overrun by the Red army.

Oppeln Captured By Soviet Forces

By ROBERT MUSEL
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, Jan. 24.—(BUP)—The Berlin radio said tonight that the Russians have broken through the German front in East Prussia and have reached the Vistula estuary area southwest of Elbing in an effort to cut the last rail line out of the province.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(BUP)—Red Army forces ripping through the defences of Silesia today captured Rawicz, big border transport hub 148 miles southeast of Berlin, the upper Silesia capital and stronghold of Oppeln on the east bank of the Oder, and a fortress town due north of Breslau.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's first Ukrainian Army scored the triple victory at Oppeln, big transport and industrial centre on the Oder, 18 miles southeast of Breslau; at Rawicz, on the lower rim of the westernmost Polish bulge, and at Trachenberg, 21 miles north of Breslau across the Bartisch tributary of the Oder.

Marshal Stalin, in the third of a series of running announcements on the progress of the great Russian offensive, reported the new conquests flanking Breslau, clearing the left flank of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's army pushing due west toward Berlin, and setting the stage for a crossing of the upper Oder.

Troops at the centre of Zhukov's line already were storming Poznan, as his south wing swept westward through Kalisz, vital communications hub a little over 80 miles to the southeast and about the same distance northeast of Breslau.

In the first of his special order of the day—the second announced the capture of Kalisz—Stalin revealed that he had thrown a sixth army into the big winter offensive. It broke through the German defences in the Hungarian-Slovak border area, bringing positions there abreast of the Soviet forces to the north.

Vancouver Woman Bungalow Winner

FLT. Lt. Bruce Graham, DFC, AFC, recently returned from overseas, put his hand into a huge drum at the Bala Ballroom Tuesday evening, and pulled out the name of Janet R. Robinson, Suite 1, 1395 West 14th Avenue, Vancouver, as the winner of the IOOE bungalow for which tickets have been sold since October.

Reg. Bewley was master of ceremonies, and Mrs. R. E. Jones, regent of the Municipal Chapter, IOOE, which sponsored the draw, presided. The dance was a climax to more than three months of selling tickets for the bungalow. Proceeds will be used for general funds of the order. The Bala Ballroom was crowded to capacity for the event, and Mr. Bewley called upon returned soldiers, almen and sailors, besides one American lieutenant in the audience to officiate at the drawings.

A washing machine and five one hundred dollar Victory Bonds also were allotted to lucky winners.

Mrs. William Egan, in charge of publicity for the drive, announced Wednesday morning that she had wired Janet Robinson late Tuesday evening, telling her of her good fortune.

Other winners were: Beatty washing machine, G. Schwallier, Hayter; $100 Victory Bonds, Mrs. L. Ann Sterling, 10923 79 avenue, Edmonton; LAC M. Palack, RCAF station, Edmonton; Thomas Dancer, 10397 123 street, Edmonton; Mrs. L. O. Crockett, Mayethurpe, and M. Sherboniuk, Vegreville.

Edmonton Weather To Remain Mild

Edmonton weather is predicted to continue "fair and mild" today and Thursday.

Maximum temperature Tuesday was 49 above zero, and the minimum 19. Overnight the minimum temperature was 13, and at 8:30 a.m. it was 19 above. Estimated high for today is 35 above.

Brief Presented

Tax Exemption Preferences Are Opposed By Merchants

CALGARY, Jan. 24.—(CP)—The Royal Commission on Taxation of Co-Operatives should recommend the repeal of any tax exemptions which favor one type of business organization as against another, the commission was told at concluding sittings of the three-day hearing here today.

Probe Continues

Claims Business Is Handicapped By Co-Op. Firms

The recommendation was contained in a 63-page brief submitted on behalf of the Alberta provincial board of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, Inc. It was read by D. R. Lipsett, KC, of Calgary, counsel for the association.

The brief traced the history of co-operatives in Britain, the United States and Canada, with particular attention to "Co-ops" in Saskatchewan and Alberta; Canada's taxation law as related to co-operatives and figures tending to show the growth and development of co-operatives.

It said the picture is "gloomy" for the Alberta retail merchants, "while legislation has prevented tax-free co-operatives from competing within a five-mile radius of each other, indiscriminate competition."

Germans Execute 18 Britons, Yanks

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—The Germans reported today the execution of 18 "Anglo-American" agents charged with being sent into Slovakia to carry out sabotage.

Text of the German statement as broadcast by Transocean said: "Eighteen British and American secret agents, led by the American Green and the British Ehmer, who passed himself off as a major, have been captured in the rear of the German front on Slovak soil."

"Interrogation showed they had been given the task of organizing sabotage in Slovakia and engaging in economic and political espionage in the Anglo-American interest."

"When caught the agents were wearing civilian dress."

"They were sentenced to death by a military tribunal and executed by shooting."

Three Edmonton Men Returning

Three Edmonton men are in a group of Canadian Army personnel who have returned from overseas and should be in Edmonton Friday night.

There are 16 district men also in the group, who should also arrive at their homes Friday.

The two Edmontonians are: Rtn. M. Bodnarchuk, stepson of Mrs. Katie Bodnarchuk, 9537 104 street; Pte. N. Morozewich (stretchers), son of Mrs. M. Handy, 8831 99 avenue; and Pte. H. G. Winkler, son of Mrs. M. Winkler, 10904 123 street.

Strike Continues

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Jan. 24.—(CP)—A railway strike here is continuing with all railway services paralyzed throughout most of Auckland province.

German Patrols Active in Italy

ROME, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Enemy patrols continued active along the Senio river in the British 8th Army's Adriatic sector while Allied 5th Army patrols, increasing their activity as snow ceased falling, have bumped up against strong German defences, particularly south of Bologna, Allied headquarters announced today.

One enemy raiding party in the 8th Army sector hit twice at outposts on the south bank of the Verio canal, southeast of Alfonsine, but was beaten back each time by tanks, artillery and mortar fire. Canadian troops of the 8th Army have been operating in this sector.

Reichstag Holds Special Session

ST. VITIL, Belgium, Jan. 24.—(AP)—A German prisoner captured here today said the German Reichstag had been in session for a week, presumably to consider the urgency of the Russian front.

Opposition Parties Blamed For Reinforcement Problem

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—Defence Minister McNaughton, speaking to Grey North electors last night, said he did not expect campaigns by the opposition political parties against appeals by himself and Prime Minister Mackenzie King last November for home defence troops to volunteer for overseas service "the men would have come forward and our reinforcement problem would have been solved."

Later in his address, and apparently in reference to disorders which developed in home defence camps after the government's conscription policy was announced, General McNaughton said:

"There was a time a few months ago when I feared for the peace and security of the country."

Now, however, he no longer held for this fear, but could not reveal details of what had been the basis of his fears.

Preferences In Exemptions Are Opposed

It is permitted against the individual retail trader who is struggling to pay the heavy taxation from which his competitor is free.

The result, it added, is that the retailer is faced with the alternative of either selling out to the local co-operative store or being ruined by it, through the "unfair competition" created by tax exemption.

Of directed attention to records of "Warmed Prices and Trade Board" which disclose that during the first six months of 1944, 171 retail stores in Saskatchewan were converted from tax-paying ownership into non-tax co-operative associations.

HITS GOVT. REVENUES

"These results, disastrous to the liquidated merchants, will also entail serious losses to provincial revenues if provincial income taxation again comes into effect at the termination of the war."

"Unless this taxation is promptly placed upon a fair and equitable basis the Dominion of Canada will gradually find itself providing opportunity and protection for thousands of tax-exempt organizations, and may seek in vain for the revenue it requires from the business corporations and individual merchants and traders whom it has complacently watched being gradually ruined and eliminated."

The brief said retail merchants have given "useful public service" and "deserve sympathetic consideration" from the public and "their extermination by means of discriminating taxation will be most unjust to them as a class, and might become a public calamity."

RAPS ACCOUNTING PLAN

It recommended that all accounting methods such as the setting aside of patronage dividends before declaring surpluses or profits should be made illegal and warned that only by legislation along these lines can the "burden of taxation be equitably imposed and the strong and wealthy co-operative associations now in existence be compelled to contribute their fair share to the taxation necessities of the country."

It quoted from a pamphlet "issued recently" by the economic division of the Dominion department of agriculture showing the number of "co-ops" had increased from 785 to 1,675 from 1932 to 1943, while the total business in the period increased from $145,000,000 to $352,000,000. Total assets in the period increased from $70,000,000 to almost $188,000,000 and the working capital from about $2,000,000 to about $25,000,000.

Mr. Lipsett said a questionnaire was circulated to several thousand retail merchants throughout Alberta and the "unanimous expression of opinion" contained in all replies is to the effect it is becoming almost impossible for retail merchants to continue in business and pay their current taxes, and at the same time compete with tax-exempt co-operatives and similar societies.

The three-day Calgary hearing of the commission ended today. Seven briefs were submitted to the commission—four on behalf of independent companies and three on behalf of co-operatives. The commission will entrain tonight for Edmonton where hearings will be held Thursday and Friday. It is expected about 12 briefs will be presented in the Northern Alberta city.

Minister Admits Tax on Mining Hits Development

OTTAWA, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Resources minister Cresser declared last night in an address that "quite frankly I believe mining taxation in this country has definitely retarded the point where it can retard development."

Addressing the annual dinner of the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, Mr. Cresser, who also holds the mines portfolio in the federal cabinet, said the mining industry was a "sheet an' a pie" for the future if we adopt wise policies and carry on the work with energy.

"There are three things the government can do to stimulate this industry: Provide sound geological surveys; provide an adequate program of mapping, including aerial photography; and thirdly, institute a sound policy of taxation."

WALTER EDWARDS

CPR Engineer Is Dead After Long Illness

A veteran engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Walter Edwards, died in an Edmonton hospital Tuesday night after a lengthy illness. He was 71 years old.

In April 1938 Mr. Edwards was retired with the unusual distinction of a perfect record in 48 years of service. He was engineer of the "Chinook" and engine No. 536 between Calgary and Edmonton for many years and was at the throttle of the "Chinook" on its test run from Calgary to Edmonton in September, 1936.

During his years of service he was engineer of the Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Devonshire and was usually called upon to pull the car of Sir Edward Beatty, former president of the CPR.

BORN IN EAST

Born in Malahide, Elgin County, Ontario, in 1874, he joined the CPR at the age of 16 and in 1897 became an engineer.

He moved west with the steel and was stationed in Camrose and Cranbrook at the turn of the century. In 1905 he came to Wetaskiwin and in 1911 he made his headquarters in Edmonton, handling passenger runs between here and Calgary up until the time of his retirement.

He is survived by his wife, who lives at 10611 79th avenue, Percy Officer, W. L. Edwards, Port Arthur, Ft. L. F. J. Edwards, North Battleford; and Sub Lt. R. M. Edwards overseas. A brother, Frank, resides in Sevanne, Ont. and a sister, Mrs. A. S. Hammond, lives at London, Ont.

Funeral arrangements are being made for Saturday and will be announced later, with Hainstock and Son in charge.

Coldwell Expects "Early" Election

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—National CCF leader, M. J. Coldwell, speaking here last night, predicted a general election in the near future. He said he based that opinion on Prime Minister Mackenzie King's statement in Ottawa yesterday.

Stating he believed the Prime Minister was worrying about the outcome of the next federal by-election Feb. 5, he said: "What's worrying him is that the fight is between our candidate (Air Vice-Marshal A. E. R. Godfrey) and the Progressive Conservative candidate (W. Garfield Cass), and that the Liberal candidate (Defence Minister McNougton) is out of the running."

"It is the right of every democratic people to nominate a candidate for any national election or by-election," he said. "No pledge has ever been made in the House anywhere that our supporters in any constituency would refrain from contesting any by-election."

Canucks Attack Well Protected German Vessel

WITH THE RCAF IN COASTAL COMMAND, Jan. 24.—(CP)—A 5,600-ton enemy merchant ship riding at anchor in a Norwegian harbor, although protected by anti-aircraft batteries, was attacked at night by a Halifax bomber crewed by 21-year-old Ft. Lt. Frank Rush, DFC, of Spiritwood, Sask.

The RCAF said last night. The Nazi ship was believed to have suffered serious damage when bombs hit the water within 10 yards of the target. Although forced to fly through an intense fire barrage, Rush completed his attack by moonlight and returned to base in Britain with his bomber undamaged and none of the crew injured.

Six Sentenced

PARIS, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Six more men of the United States Army's 16th Railway Battalion, convicted of looting supply trains en route to the front in black market deals, were sentenced yesterday to 15 to 25 years at hard labor. Testimony in the case of another group will be continued Wednesday.

Dynamite Bridge

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Norwegian guerrilla parachute troops have dynamited the railway bridge north of Trondheim in another blow to prevent the Germans from evacuating Northern Norway, a message to the Norwegian government in London said yesterday.

Editor Sentenced

PARIS, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Georges Zucarelli, former editor of Le Nouveau Temps, was convicted yesterday by the purge court of collusion with the enemy and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Soviet Forces Seize Capital Upper Silesia

the offensive front another 100 miles southward into Hungary with an attack along the Hungarian-Slovak frontier which broke through on a 25-mile front and carried westward 12 miles.

TAKE BORDER TOWNS

Swinging forward in line with Gen. Ivan Y. Petrov's forces in Slovakia and lower Poland, Malinovsky's forces captured the fortified border towns of Jolysatopolca and Rozsnyo, respectively 45 and 38 miles west of Kassa.

To the north other Russian forces were battering the Oder defences along a broad front and fighting into Poznan, Polish bastion 136 miles east of Berlin, and the East Prussian capital of Konigsberg.

A German military spokesman said that Russian attempts to cross the Oder southeast of Breslau were frustrated.

The German high command, acknowledging wholesale setbacks from end to end of the blazing "eastern battle," was nearing a climax, and had reached a pitch of ferocity and violence "which cannot possibly be surpassed."

FALL IS IMMINENT

Nazi military spokesmen, confirming Moscow reports that Poznan was under assault, said two columns of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's Army were storming the city from the east and south. The tenor of the spokesman's comment and a high command admission of "embittered fighting" there indicated the city's fall was imminent.

Soviet field dispatches reported the attack on Konigsberg and said that other Russian forces pushing up through the western part of East Prussia were within 15 miles of Elbing, the fall of which would slam the door on some 200,000 Nazi troops in the province.

On the other wing of the fast shifting eastern front, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army massed on the east bank of the Oder southeast of the Silesian capital of Breslau, opened a shattering bombardment of German defences across the river, and closed against a number of key towns in the industrial "Ruhr of the East."

NEARING DECISION

The battle of Silesia swiftly neared a decision as Konev, already entrenched on the Oder along a broad front, fanned his forces out north and south and reached points 10 to 15 miles from Breslau, a Moscow dispatch reported.

"The Germans are reported mobilizing every able-bodied man, woman and child to fight with a fanaticism unparalleled for the Germans in a desperate attempt to defer if not avert the doom of the Reich's last important arsenal."

Applying the scorched-earth policy to their home, the Germans were reported from Moscow to have laid waste the Silesian towns and villages marked for seizure by the Red Army.

INCREASE PRESSURE

The German high command acknowledged increased Russian pressure against the Silesian industrial area and against the Oder between Breig and Cosel, respectively 33 miles southeast of Breslau and 23 miles southeast of Oppeln.

Violent fighting was going on in the streets of Oppeln and Gielwitz, the two main cities of Silesia southeast of Breslau, a Berlin communication admitted.

A BBC broadcast reported the German radio as saying that Gielwitz had fallen to the Russians.

A Nazi broadcast supplementing the communiqué quoted high command sources as saying that between Cosel and Breig, "A wild battle had flared up on a wide front," indicating that the Nazis had no accurate picture of the situation and were prepared for word that the Oder line had been breached.

NAZI ADMISSION

Bolstering Moscow reports that the Soviet trap was closing on East Prussia, the German command said that in the western end of the province Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces beat down stubborn resistance and advanced to the area of Elbing, big transport junction in the Baltic coastal area and gateway for any evacuation of the battered defenders to the east.

The official Nazi wording suggested the possibility that Rokossovsky might have Elbing within range of his guns, which in effect would seal off East Prussia.

The Germans reported that a new Soviet offensive had begun in western Latvia, where an unknown number of Germans were pocketed.

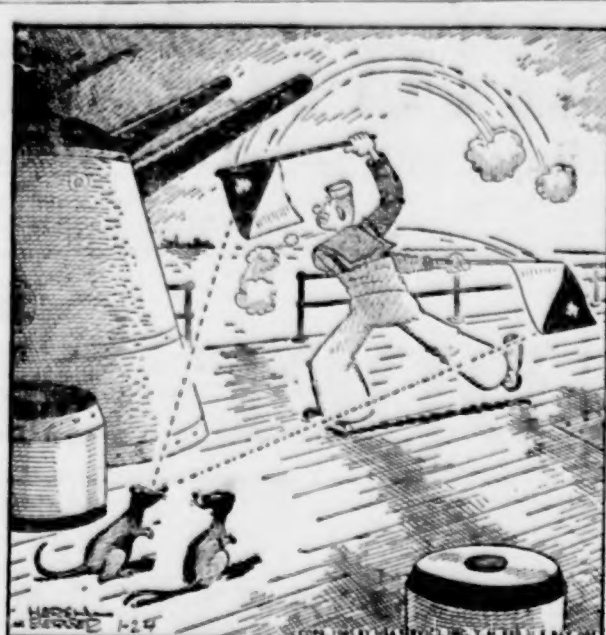

Soviet front dispatches, lifting a 48-hour official blackout on the drive across western Poland, revealed that Russian tanks and infantrymen had launched a frontal assault on Poznan, the last enemy stronghold before the German border, 40-odd miles to the west.

Chinese Troops Of First Army Enter Monghyu

KANDY, Ceylon, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Chinese 1st Army troops have pushed into Monghyu, the junction of the Ledo-Burma road, and convoys of trucks headed for Kunming with war supplies have approached the Burma-China border.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement of these successes, it was disclosed that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief of the southeast Asia theatre, had sent a telegram to the combined chiefs of state saying:

"The first part of the orders I received at Quebec has been carried out. The land route to China is open."

Japan Admits Arms Shortage

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The storm of criticism rising in Japan against Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso reached the point Tuesday where one member of the House of Representatives bluntly stated "it is regrettable that resolute action is lacking."

The accusation of Chu Fungda yielded an acknowledgment from Koiso, facing possible ouster due to reverses in the Philippines, that "there is a shortage in some fields of (munitions) production which must be made up to tide over the present crisis."

Domestic Agency reported the exchange in a Tokyo broadcast recorded in the United States by the Federal Communications Commission.

Fungda asked Shigeru Yoshida, munitions minister, "why is it that there aren't enough planes at the front when cries for more planes have been repeated over and over?"

Domestic quoted Yoshida as replying that Japan's 1944 plane output was much greater than in 1943 but "it is very difficult to produce all the planes we want in today's war."

In East, West

Only 2,000,000 Foe Troops To Face Might of Allies

By CHARLES LYNCH

AT 21ST ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Jan. 24.—

(Reuters)—Eighty German divisions are committed against Gen. Eisenhower's armies, compared with 160 against the Russians, it was learned yesterday. There are 28 German divisions in Italy and enemy strength in Scandinavia has been reduced to 20 divisions.

The only additional troops available to the German high command are between 10 and 20 divisions now refitting in Germany. This makes in all a total of slightly more than 2,000,000 armed Germans to face the crushing weight of the Russians in the east and the full might of the Allies in the west.

It now is known that the purpose of Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's offensive was to throw back the western winter plans for several months—thus avoiding a war on two fronts. He hoped to insulate the west, fearing that the Russian offensive was about to begin.

Instead of achieving this Von Rundstedt lost his reserve "cushion" in the Ardennes. With priority suddenly shifted to the east, he will have scarcely any panzer divisions at his disposal a fortnight from now.

Now, the German high command faces the dreaded two-front war on a scale which even they in their wildest dreams did not deem possible.

NEW BUS SERVICE Is Proposed Here

Starting Monday a through bus service will be operated during the peak passenger hours from 149 street along 102 avenue, 124 street and Jasper to a downtown terminus. It was announced Wednesday by R. J. Gibb, city commissioner in charge of utilities.

He said that a 74-minute service would be maintained during the rush hours of 7 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6:30 p.m., with buses travelling through to a terminus in the downtown section yet to be determined. In the off-peak hours the regular service will be maintained from 149 street to 124 street.

In the operation of the through service limited stops will be made. Present arrangements call for stops at 120, 116, 109 and 104 streets.

The third bus to be placed on this service is now in test, and five buses will be used during the rush hours. The through service is being operated to relieve congestion of the blue and blue and white routes.

Japs Conceal Truth "Little as Possible"

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Tokyo radio reported yesterday that Japanese Premier Kuniaki Koiso told the Diet that the Nippon government, in its war propaganda, "avoids concealing the truth as much as possible."

Japs "Hold Back"

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The Japanese are building 1,500 planes a month and have been holding back their strength, Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of U.S. strategic air forces in the Pacific, said yesterday. He predicted Japan "will be fighting in 1946."

Raid Iwo Jima

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Super fortresses attacked military installations on the Japanese island of Iwo Jima today. An island in the volcano group, Iwo Jima is about midway between the Marianas bases of the 51st Bomber Command and Japan.

Lad Drowned

CALGARY, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Four-year-old Ronald Douglas Tomkins drowned in the Elbow river about a block and a half from his home yesterday when he fell through the ice while playing. Recent chinook winds have weakened the ice on the Bow and Elbow rivers.

Bracken Finds New Appreciation Of Fighting Men

ROME, Jan. 24.—(CP)—John Bracken, who returned to Rome yesterday from a swift tour of Canadian front-line positions in Italy, said last night he had a new appreciation of "what the war means to the men who are fighting it."

The leader of Canada's Progressive Conservative party said at a press conference: "It was the first time in my life that I looked from my side over into the enemy's, seeing exactly the characteristics of the task and the conditions under which we have to do it."

"As a result I admire the Canadian soldier more than ever before and have an added appreciation of his qualities."

Says Authorities Largely To Blame For Lost Material

WINNIPEG, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Judge H. W. Whittle in county court here yesterday said military authorities are themselves largely responsible for a tremendous loss and wastage of army material due to actions of enlisted men.

He said before passing sentence on Mike Kolodis, a soldier for theft of 13,700 pounds of coal, that a superior officer should have supervised the "coal handling." Kolodis was sentenced to five months in jail. The coal was valued at $75, but the soldier obtained only $10 for it.

"Citizens are bearing a heavy burden of taxation," said Judge Whittle. "Such actions as these are likely to break down the confidence of the public."

Hopes Operation To Restore Sight

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Miss Bernice Biggs who has been blind for 18 years will travel to New York City for an operation which it is hoped will restore her sight through a cornea transplantation.

Miss Biggs, home teacher in Vancouver for the Canadian Institute for the Blind, will become head of the Institute's occupational therapy section in Vancouver if the operation is successful. If it fails, she will return to her teaching job.

Edmontonian Scores Canuck Pilots Shoot Down Five German Jet-Planes

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Canadian fighter pilots in strikes over the continent yesterday destroyed at least eight German aircraft in combat, damaged as many others and blew up a number of ground targets.

Five of the destroyed planes and six of those damaged were twin jet-propelled ME-262s. They fell to planes of the Ram and Grizzly Bear Spitfire squadrons in two separate engagements. This is believed to be a record day's bag of jet-propelled aircraft.

Two of the jets were shot down by Ft. Lt. Dick Audet, DFC, of Lethbridge, Alta., and the double kill brought his total to 11½. Audet, a Grizzly Bear squadron pilot, only started scoring a few weeks ago when he destroyed five German planes in one dogfight, in one of the greatest single triumphs of aerial warfare.

ABOUT TO LAND

The latest victims were about to land at an airfield near the city of Rheine on the Ems river, 65 miles north of Dortmund.

RAF pilots destroyed the three remaining jet craft when they encountered more than 15 of the jets fighter landing or taking off an airfield near Osnabruck. F.O. G. A. Hardy of Blandford, Sask., was credited with one while a third was shared by Ft. W. C. Connell of Nipawin, Sask., and P.O. T. M. Thomas of Saskatoon.

The remainder of the planes destroyed were FW190s. The Red Indian squadron shot down two in flames. Ft. Lt. M. J. Gordon of Edmonton and F.O. Fred Evans of Toronto shared one.

In addition to the fighter toll, the RCAF announced the night destruction of a JU88 over the mouth of the Schelde and a JU188 east of Brussels.

The daylong activities, which included the blasting of a fortified village on the British 2nd Army front, cost the RCAF five planes but one of the pilots is safe.

NEW, TERRIBLE WAR WEAPONS BEING TESTED

INVOKER, Calif., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Here on a 650,000-acre tract of government land in the Mojave desert's Lava mountains, the Navy has established a $35,000,000 ordnance test station for new and terrible weapons of war, among them rockets which may be used against Japan. It will be 18 months before the station is completed. The program for rockets includes an expenditure of $100,000,000 a month for ammunition alone.

ABILITY RECOGNIZED

His ability was immediately recognized and by the time the unit left for overseas, Dec. 16, 1939, he had been promoted sergeant.

On March 7, 1942, he was commissioned a lieutenant in the regiment and on Nov. 26 of the same year he was promoted to captain.

He served with the regiment in Sicily and Italy and returning men from the regiment say that he has held practically every post and rank in the regiment and is one of the most efficient and most popular men of the many who have been with it.

W. J. Williams, who served in "D" Company of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment with him, said "He sure deserves it because he is one swell fellow."

WON MILITARY CROSS

On March 17, 1944, announcement was made that Lt.-Col. Stone, then captain, acting major, had been awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous gallantry in action.

Since then he has been mentioned several times in news dispatches for participation in the campaign.

To Build Homes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Temporary homes for bombed-out British war workers will be produced in the United States as lumber and other scarce materials become available, a government announcement said yesterday. A plan to provide 30,000 pre-fabricated homes to Britain under lend-lease terms was made public several days ago.

Machine Co-Op. Official States Aims of Firm

Canadian Co-operative Implement Limited, farm machinery "co-op," aims at a membership of 50,000, with a share capital of $2,500,000. J. B. Brown, CCIL official, declared Tuesday evening at convention sessions of the Alberta Farmers' Union in the Masonic Temple.

Outlining organization work of his company in this province, Mr. Brown said 18,000 Alberta farmers are wanted as CCIL members, contributing $336,000 of share capital. So far, $20,000 has been raised by contribution from Alberta, the speaker stated.

After hearing and questioning Mr. Brown as to progress CCIL is making, the convention unanimously passed a resolution calling on AFU members to give support to the implement co-op's membership drive in Alberta.

SECOND RESOLUTION
A second resolution from the convention floor, also passed by delegates, will instruct incoming AFU board members to do everything possible to assist the CCIL in organization efforts.

Mr. Brown said that of the $2,500,000 share capital aimed at, $1,000,000 would come from farmers. Three-quarters of a million dollars would come from governments of the three prairie provinces, while further half million dollars would come from interested co-op organizations.

Of the $1,000,000 to be subscribed by farmers, 22 per cent would be raised in Manitoba; 42 per cent would come from Saskatchewan, and 36 per cent would come from Alberta. These figures are on a basis of population and investment in farm machinery of the three provinces.

Mr. Brown said if all farmers would join a co-operative they could control all machinery sold in Western Canada. "The trouble we don't know our own power," he said.

In the early days of the company's operation, it would not dare to start price-cutting, he explained. It would hold members together through the patronage dividend system, under which earnings in each 12-month period would be allocated to members in cash, or credited to them on the company's books.

NEED ALBERTA BACKING
"Alberta must be behind the CCIL, as the other two prairie provinces are," Mr. Brown told the convention.

Other speakers at the Tuesday night convention sitting were J. J. MacLellan, Tanager; Hugh Allen, Hualien, and Andrew Wood, River-ton.

Mr. MacLellan, a director of the United Grain Growers, brought greetings to delegates from the UGG and its western personnel.

Mr. Allen, president of Alberta Livestock Co-Operative, Ltd., expressed good wishes of his organization to the convention, and congratulated the AFU on its rapid growth.

Mr. Wood, a director of the United Farmers of Alberta, told delegates the last year had been one of friendship between the AFU and UFA. "The year has been one of pooling together to attain our ends," he said.

"We must remember that size of organization is only a means to an end," Mr. Wood continued. "We must not forget the end we are trying to reach." He added there was no doubt that in the future directors of the UFA and the AFU would meet on occasion to discuss mutual problems.

Proposal Rejected AFU Delegates Oppose Govt. Control of Packing Plants

Recording complete opposition to the proposal, more than 500 delegates to the Alberta Farmers' Union convention Tuesday afternoon rejected a recommendation that the provincial government take over control and operation of packing plants in Alberta.

By resolution, the convention was asked to endorse a scheme under which "the provincial government take over the control and operation of all packing plants and operate them along the lines of a public utility for the benefit of the people."

After brief debate, delegates unanimously rejected the motion. One resolution passed at the Tuesday afternoon sitting will ask the provincial government insurance office to investigate and set up a livestock insurance system. The insurance proposed would cover animals on the farm and in transit.

HELD 'RIDICULOUS'
The rejected packing plant resolution was submitted by Lindale, Glen Leslie and Enterprise locals of the AFU.

"This is ridiculous," one delegate stated of the motion. He urged instead united action by all farmers shipping to packing plants. "If we organize and monopolize what we send in, then we would have control over the plants."

A second delegate asked "What right have we got to take over packing plants?" A third suggested the plants should be taken over "in troubled times only."

"Did you ever see any men lose as much money as when they are working for the government?" one AFU member asked, speaking against the motion. He said, "You only need to go up and down the Edmonton-Calgary trail to see men working for the public works department to see how that would work."

One speaker against the motion pointed to a resolution passed earlier in the afternoon, which endorsed the idea of a producer and consumer packing plant.

"In one resolution we support co-operative packing plants," this delegate said. "Now we want the government to take over plants now operating."

The motion calling for endorsement of a producer-consumer packing plant brought appeals by speakers to complete organization and then deal with the packing plant question.

"If we take control of a commodity through a co-operative selling agency, we wouldn't need a packing plant," a delegate declared. Another said if enough livestock could be marketed through an agency, farmers could put a director on the board of every packing plant in the country.

MUST GET ORGANIZED
"The first thing we want to do is get organized," a member told the convention. "When we are 100 per cent organized, we can demand parity prices and get them."

The motion was amended to strike out any reference to the Alberta Livestock Co-Operative or other co-operative associations. The original motion called for endorsement of a "producer and consumer packing plant being operated by the Alberta Livestock Co-Operative or other co-operative associations."

One delegate suggested it would be better to support a co-operative farm machinery plant first, going into the packing plant situation later. If we spend our money on both at once, both will go broke," he said.

Another motion endorsed by the convention Tuesday calls on the Dominion government to enlarge capacity of stockyards to handle hog flows. It also asks for establishment of a hog-purchasing commission to receive and pay for hogs on an "equitable live-weight basis"; that the government assume cost of feeding and caring for hogs awaiting slaughter, and that this plan be put into operation immediately and "for the duration."

C. Campbell, former manager of Alberta Livestock Co-Operative, addressed the convention on the packing plant situation prior to discussion of the resolutions.

COMPETITIVE INDUSTRY
The packing industry is the most competitive in the country, because products handled are perishable and must be sold, Mr. Campbell said.

"The business of going into the processing game might look fine to the individual who doesn't know the business," he said. "Until we know more about production, distribution and export, I think it would be better to leave processing to those who know the business."

MISSING.—F.O. D. A. "Al" Rowat, son of Mrs. Andrew Rowat, 9575 106 street who has been reported missing in action, according to word received by his mother. Although born at Rivers, Man., he lived most of his life prior to enlisting in the RCAF in August 1941. He was a clerk in the district court, and was prominent in athletic, musical and dramatic circles. After joining the RCAF he served at No. 3 "M" Depot and at the RCAF recruiting centre here. Re-mustering for aircrew in August 1942 he trained at No. 2 Wireless School, Calgary and the Paulson, Man., bombing and gunnery school, where he was graduated and commissioned. First posted to the Bahamas he later went to England where he was promoted to flying officer.

Old Country are going to need bacon, beef, and other livestock products, said Mr. Campbell. However, we could not expect the British to take over production and pay cash. The only way in which they hope to pay is in goods.

"As long as we have an outlet for this production, I think it is good business to give them the production," he continued. "I think it would be a big mistake to cut down production."

The speaker said producers after the war would have to see to it that the best grade goods are delivered in fulfillment of contracts. "After the war is over, we will need the meat board in Canada for some considerable time," he declared.

Grey North Vote May Be Cancelled

OTTAWA, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Dr. Arthur Beauchamp, clerk of the House of Commons, said last night that if parliament was dissolved before the Feb. 5 Grey North by-election the by-election automatically would be eliminated because it was being held to elect a member to a parliament which then no longer existed.

Dr. Beauchamp was asked for interpretation of parliamentary procedure in view of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's message to the Grey North electors in which he said the government would have to consider after nomination day, Jan. 29, "Whether any useful purpose could be served by attempting to hold another session of the present parliament."

Political circles in the capital said consideration of that question also might involve consideration of whether it would be worthwhile to hold the by-election. Dr. Beauchamp said that if the government should decide not to go through with the by-election the only course open would be to dissolve parliament, thus making a general election mandatory.

Nazis Claim Allied Transport Is Sunk

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(Reuters)—The German DNB Agency claimed today that an Allied 7,000-ton transport was sunk in a series of clashes between German E-boats and Allied convoy escorts between the mouth of the Thames and the Schelde estuary in Holland. There was no Allied confirmation.

Gardiner Raps Policy of CCF Party in War

Great war mongers in Canada. They said all the men should be sent over."

Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, CCF candidate in the present Grey North by-election, described the speaker as a man who had shot down 19 German planes in the First Great War.

This CCF candidate appeared to have the feeling that men now released from the RCAF should be available for the forces overseas.

"If so, he should not be in the ranks of a party that goes around this province whispering in the ear of every mother: 'If we had been the government of Canada your son would not have been over there,'" Mr. Gardiner said.

"They are using their big campaign fund to pay their emissaries to travel the length and breadth of the province. In the provincial election in June I have heard a CCF speaker saying that 'if we had been in office in the last two years every man would be back home before now.'"

"No government could get the men overseas back before the end of the war. They were volunteers and crusaders."

DISCREDITS STORY

"I don't believe the Toronto story that 29 men who came back on leave for 30 days said they wouldn't go back," he continued. "I don't believe you can find 29 men who fought at the front who would say such a thing."

"In view of what they say in their editorials, I don't believe the Toronto Globe and Mail news stories. I believe it is propaganda."

Earlier Mr. Gardiner quoted a Globe and Mail editorial (Nov. 17, 1944) which said that $616,000 of the money gathered in a Victory Loan drive had been "wasted" as it represented the cost of maintaining, training and equipping "the conscript army the government says shall not fight in this war."

He then quoted from an article by J. A. Cook, Regina Leader-Post war correspondent (Nov. 8) that home defence units had been welcomed in the defence of the Canadian west coast and had provided a valuable training ground for officers now overseas.

The experiences reported from the front line by Mr. Cook showed the home defence army expenditures had not been a waste.

GARDINER DEFENDS MANPOWER POLICY

REGINA, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in an address last night that only 6,300 men of the 1,800,000 in the age groups liable to military service "have indicated a desire to refuse to go overseas."

Speaking before the Saskatchewan Liberal Association Council, Mr. Gardiner said the federal government manpower policy was the best that could have been devised for Canada. When the recent short House of Commons session was debating sending 16,000 draftees overseas, delegations were waiting on the government asking increased production of food and munitions and additional mutual aid supplies.

1,800,000 CALLED

Of men in the age groups from 18-38 liable for service, 1,800,000 were called before Sept. 30, 1944. Of these, 750,000 were in the armed forces, 300,000 could be accounted for in groups exempted by law, who were outside Canada or whose call was in the process of being completed.

Some 40,000, most of whom had since been found to be in the services, were not accounted for in September, while another 270,000 received postponement of compulsory military training. This left 540,000 in categories not fit for combatant service.

Of the 750,000 in the forces only 68,000 were in the home defence army.

"I understand that the total number of men not entitled to postponement or unfit for service in the 68,000 would not exceed 34,000," he continued.

WHY "ALL NOISE"

"What has all the noise been about then? It is because after screening and rescreening a total of 1,800,000 men it was found on Oct. 2 last that there were 24,000 men who might be expected to go overseas who had not volunteered."

This means not more than five per cent by the widest stretch of the imagination of all those who could have been sent overseas under any system of selective service had not volunteered when this so-called conscription measure was introduced to tell those trained as infantry if they had not volunteered by certain dates it would be necessary to send them.

"The fact is that most of them have volunteered and are on their way overseas. Only 6,300 men out of a total of 1,800,000 have indicated a desire to refuse to go overseas."

Japanese Islands In Pacific May Be Held by U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Congress eyed Japanese islands in the Pacific last night with the possibility they may be taken over permanently by the United States as outer defence bastions. Chairman Carl Vinson of the House of Representatives naval affairs committee, appointed a seven-member subcommittee to study the Japanese mandated islands and said: "Every body recognizes that we've got to have a defence ring beyond Pearl Harbor which in the past has been the advance defence base of the United States mainland."

New Jap Party

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, facing possible downfall as a result of continued Japanese defeats, has accepted a proposal to create a new totalitarian party in Japan, the Japanese Domei agency reported today.

I counted graves which probably contained at least 4,000 Filipinos and several scores of Americans while visiting this lonely camp of horrors a few hours after the Americans occupied it.

All evidences were that the Japanese some time previously had removed whatever prisoners had survived their 30-month ordeal, then had attempted to obliterate all evidence of their infamous rule by destroying prisoners' barracks by fire.

A Filipino colonel who survived O'Donnell and was released by the Japanese said that 40,000 Filipinos and Americans of the 80,000 originally confined at O'Donnell had died of disease and malnutrition which claimed several hundred daily during the early days of imprisonment.

F.D.R. Pays Off Election Wager 13 Years Late

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has paid off a 26-year-old election bet, 13 years and three terms late.

A White House courier Monday delivered to J. Cresswell Young a battered grey fedora. It was sent in response to a note Young wrote Mr. Roosevelt two weeks ago, reminding the President that in 1912, when he was assistant secretary of navy, Young, a real estate broker, bet a hat that Mr. Roosevelt would become President.

He quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying, "If I'm elected I'll give you a hat." Although his prediction came true in the 1932 election, Young just "got around to bothering the President" now.

KILLED IN ACTION.—PO John Robert Wilson, RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilson, 8318 87 avenue, who has been killed in action in the Indian theatre of operations, according to information received by his parents. He was 21 years old. Born in England, he came here at an early age, and attended Queen Alexandra's and Seona high schools. He enlisted on his 18th birthday, June 11, 1941, and trained at Regina and Calgary. Going overseas in October 1942 he served in England, and after operational training was posted to India, where he was killed in action. He has two brothers, Lt. Ralph Wilson, on active service in Italy, and LAC Oliver Wilson, RCAF, now stationed in Calgary, and one sister Eunice at home.

Six Scholarships Will Be Awarded By Navy League

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—(CP)—The Dominion headquarters of the Navy League of Canada announced yesterday six scholarships to the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads, B.C., covering tuition, board, uniform and recreational fees for a complete two-year course, will be awarded again this year to Navy League sea cadets who pass the required examinations.

The courses are valued at $800 each. Scholarships will be allotted on the following basis: One for British Columbia, one for the three prairie provinces, two for Ontario, one for Quebec and one for the combined maritime provinces.

Canuck's Role Is Stern Test For Soldiers

By DOUGLAS AMARON
WITH THE 1st CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Patience and endurance have been the qualities most required of 1st Canadian Army soldiers during their long static watch at the gateway to the shortest road to Berlin from the western front.

For more than 10 weeks, Canadian, British and Polish forces of Gen. Crerar's army have held an unchanged line from the islands north of the Schelde estuary eastward to the Nijmegen salient, where forward positions are inside Germany itself. They have played a holding role, one of the most thankless in war and one of the sternest tests of a good soldier.

The Canadians moved into the Nijmegen salient early in November after making available to the Allies the vitally important port of Antwerp by their brilliant but bloody month-long fight to clear the Germans from the Schelde estuary. Field Marshal Montgomery, 21st Army Group commander, called the Schelde victory the finest operation of the western front campaign.

Hepburn, Pattullo Praised by Low

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—Hon. Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party, speaking here last night praised former Ontario Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, T. D. Pattullo, former premier of British Columbia, and the late Alberta Premier William Aberhart, as champions of decentralization in government.

Mr. Low charged the Labor Progressive party with attempting to undermine the British Commonwealth and said the only answer for Canada's problems was a true political and economic democracy.

He said he did not want to place Alberta before his audience as a "supreme example," but he said the Social Credit government of the province was an example of "true political democracy."

Local organizations of citizens in each community gave guidance to their member.

Housing Projects

It is reassuring news that negotiations are under way between the city commissioners and officials of the National Housing administration which seem likely to result in the building of 400 houses in Edmonton. The proposal, originated some time ago, is to bring in pre-fabricated Army huts which are no longer needed by United States forces at Dawson Creek, and locate these on streets where water and sewer mains have been laid.

Equally gratifying is the announcement by Mayor Fry that discussions are taking place with the Department of Veterans' Affairs looking to the inception of a soldier settlement scheme here. The idea in this is to erect homes on acre plots in the outskirts of the city, where men working in town could develop good sized gardens and thus turn off-hours to account if so disposed.

Quite clearly the National Housing administration and the Department having to do with veterans' affairs are convinced that Edmonton is a place which is bound to keep on growing, and a place where a large number of returned men will want to make their homes. Edmonton people of course have no doubt on either point, and will hope that both housing projects may get under way as soon as spring opens.

Wheat "Futurities"

Mr. G. McIvor's remark that we shall have a carryover of 200 million bushels of wheat on July 31st, next, makes the wheat over-production story blow up.

Not only did we have a big carryover at the beginning of the war, but crops during the war, with the exception of one, have been excellent. Still we are going to have only 200 million bushels on hand next year, and that is not more than an adequate reserve in these times.

That brings up two questions. One is whether the government has to stick to its decision to stop open trading in wheat, and fix prices at $1.25 per bushel.

The other question is whether Canada should continue to be an active member of the international cartel, to keep the price of wheat up.

The two things get tied together. If by chance, the government decides to continue in the cartel to keep the production of wheat down, in order to keep the price up, and this should prove a success, then we have good evidence for the value of cartels.

If, on the other hand, the world wheat situation should be such that our joining this cartel ends in our having no wheat carryover in a year or two, then two things are demonstrated. One is that the cartel is a bad thing, and the other that the Canadian farmer would have got a great deal more benefit by keeping out of this cartel, and leaving the wheat to be sold in the open market.

Mr. McIvor left no doubt as to where he stood in this matter. He said that it was impossible to make a long term forecast, so he must be against our joining the international wheat cartel.

The "Monarchy" Story

Commentators who said Britain intervened in Greece from a desire to maintain the monarchy will have trouble accounting for British policy toward Italy and Yugoslavia.

These two countries are also monarchies. But Mr. Churchill says he has no intention of accepting Italy as a partner in the United Nations, and that the Allies will enforce the regency arrangement in Yugoslavia even if King Peter refuses to approve the plan.

These decisions will not brighten the prospects of the monarchies in the two countries. They will have precisely the contrary effect. Nothing would help more to popularize the monarchy in Italy than admission of that country to membership in the United Nations. Backing the regency against the opposition of King Peter would be a curious way for Britain to go about strengthening his position.

If, as some critics have alleged, Mr. Churchill is playing "power politics" in these states, they should explain how that usually astute gentleman played the wrong card at every turn.

The facts speak for themselves. In all three countries British influence is being exerted to maintain the greatest measure of unity and order which the circumstances make possible, leaving it to the peoples concerned to continue the monarchies or abolish them as they see fit.

The March From the East

Herr Hitler no longer needs to urge his subjects to look to the east. From Goebbels down they are doing just that, and shuddering as they look.

The official radiomen and the equally controlled newspapers of the Reich have their own and the public attention focused on the eastern front, leaving Rundstedt to battle as he can against the armies hammering at the West Wall. What they see to the eastward is alarming, too alarming for more than glances to the west and the south fronts. It is there that danger looms most imminent.

Historic Tannenberg has fallen. Interberg has gone, and the whole East Prussia bastion is crumbling. The roads from Poland to Germany proper—and Berlin—are moving streams of Russian tanks and guns and troops, which, it is officially stated, there is no present way of stopping. The "fate" which Hitler invoked in 1941 is on the move Berlin-ward. Last week the jittery enemy observers estimated the horde at three millions of men. They have raised the estimate to five millions.

The "march to the east" has become a march from the east—and what a march. So far as known, never before were so many men massed in one concerted drive. Certainly never before were so many machines of war converging on a single front—and a single city as the ultimate goal.

But to suppose that the great offensive can roll to Berlin with no more opposition than it has yet encountered, or without meeting desperate resistance, would be to wilfully ignore the well-known stubbornness of the enemy. Somewhere, it must be expected, the Nazi forces will be mustered for a desperate stand, behind prepared positions. And their lines are shortening as those of the Russians grow longer.

Outside East Prussia it has not been claimed by Moscow that any great part of the German army has been destroyed in the sweep across Poland. The bulk of the enemy forces have apparently been pulled back to home territory. It would be folly, and dangerous folly, to allow the optimism of two months ago to again sweep this continent. The war isn't over, and it won't be over until Germany no longer has an army big enough to deserve the name.

Pearl Harbor has to be careful now about specifying which particular day it was that the Japs lost a couple of dozen ships and three or four times as many planes. The daily records are so much alike the readers might get them mixed and count wrong when they try to tote up the score for a week.

Farm Debt

Editor, Bulletin: So far as I can make out from the news columns, the farmers are steadily digging themselves out from the accumulated debts which have been a grievous burden through and since the depression decade. This, if true, is a constructive sign of the times. Of course the ability of the average farmer today is (and likely will continue to be) conditioned by the state of agricultural industry, and the margin left between the operating costs plus living expenses, and the gross farm income. I agree that this is the time for the farmer to think first of freeing his farm from that "over-burden" which, for some years now, has tarnished the rural scene and taken most of the joy out of farm life. I agree with the famous C.B.S. when he asserts crisply: "Debt is like any other trap—easy to get into but hard to get out of."

On the other side of the picture, I would like to suggest that someone sees to it that this whole question of "farm debt" lives in a perpetual atmosphere of obscurity, fog, rumor? This is a most unhealthy condition, in my opinion. I notice that we experience little difficulty in assembling all manner of other statistics along the farm front. We know, by perusing the Canada Year-Book (1945-1946), the total value of the lands, buildings, implements, livestock, the nation's farms; and are aware of the productivity of those same 738,000 farms—all along the line, from the number of bushels of cereals which have left the farm and the supply still in rural bins, to the numbers of livestock, egg production, and a thousand-and-one other agricultural facts—but when it comes to such a vital question as "Farm Debt," there is a complete black-out. Why?

Surely someone must have these basic facts and figures? An item in the news, quoted a Regina authority as saying in August, 1945, that the much-publicized figure of $600,000,000 for Saskatchewan farm debt was at least $200,000,000 too high. Today's figures would make "news" if they could be obtained.

Escape to Moon

Editor, Bulletin: According to a recent story, we should soon be able to make our reservations to the moon—that is, if the Fuehrer doesn't get there first.

If, instead of green cheese, the moon is found to consist of more substantial stuff, such as mountains, valleys and other familiar types of scenery, then perhaps this is the answer to all our earthly problems.

When things get too tough, those who have been wise enough to keep a little rocket ship and air map in the garage can escape to our satellite. To find a new home away from this weary old earth would be a big help—then or now.

Men in Air Force Blue

Editor, Bulletin: In case there should be any thought in the minds of the public classifying airmen who are now to be drafted into the Army with the Zombies, it should be made known to the public that all Air Force personnel voluntarily enlisted for Active Service anywhere in the world, but were not given the privilege of wearing GS badges which the Army have worn for the past few years.

A large percentage of Air Force personnel enlisted in 1939, '40 and '41, and although they were attested for Active Service, still, on several occasions since enlistment, they have again volunteered for overseas duty. However, due to circumstances beyond their control it was limited to those in higher authority to judge whether or not they should remain in Canada or go beyond its domain.

Therefore, any criticism which the public may care to direct to airmen serving in Canada should not be directed to the airmen but to the powers that be in Ottawa. It should be remembered by the public that once a man dons an Air Force uniform he is told where to serve and has no option as to when he will be posted overseas. Orders emanate from Ottawa.

Slow to Learn

Editor, Bulletin: It was with great pleasure I read N.E. Nix's letter on building lots in your Jan. 6 issue. I marvel, however, at the restrained language used by Mr. Nix.

Here we are with 38,000 city-owned vacant lots in an incorporated city area of 42 square miles. As if that were not enough, the City Council continues to pursue the policy that created the mess. In fact they endorsed it again on Jan. 8. Some people just seem naturally slow to learning.

But you would think 30 years of paying taxes on streets, walks, light, telephone, water and sewer, and transportation for 38,000 vacant lots would make an impression. Of course some people may argue that paying for all these things, and an expensive lot as well, has nothing to do with thousands of people establishing homes beyond our city limits. I suggest, however, that the reason some people are building homes out Spruce Grove way is that the land on which to build doesn't cost them a quarter as much as the house itself.

If the thousands outside the city had been given building lots free, they would have become city home owners, and city tax-payers. As soon as they escaped from rent paying they could have proceeded to use and pay for the utilities already serving many of our 38,000 vacant lots. Extra utility surpluses would have very soon made up for the money lost by giving the lots away. There would also be better sanitary conditions, a more compact city, a more attractive city, and more inducement for industry to establish here.

While it is too late to bring several thousand homes back into the city, it is not too late to adopt a new policy encouraging the building of homes inside the city.

But then maybe someone has a vacant lot he hopes to sell at a profit. If he has, we are assured he will have a hard time getting into the Kingdom of Heaven.

The Basic Issue

Question of the Future Of Germany Is Pivotal

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

In the discussion of what "unconditional surrender" may mean as applied to Germany, it is assumed that the Soviets and the United States are in the same state of indecision. I should like to suggest this is not so, and falling a common agreement, and that immediately the Soviets are prepared for any eventuality.

The term "unconditional surrender," which was coined as a purely military demand during the civil war, actually did mean the total surrender of the sovereignty of the southern confederation, and amalgamation into the Union.

Among the Big Three, there is only one power that could mean that in that total way. Neither America nor Britain can amalgamate Germany within its orbit, either de facto or de jure. But the Soviets can, and I suggest it as a possibility. The issue is not one of "Communism." Mr. Churchill was startled when, on Thursday, he described the revolutionary "left-wing" forces in Greece as "Trotskyite Communists." The phrase, in the mean the suppression of the EAM is not contrary to the wishes of the Kremlin. The phrase is Russian, not British. The phrase foreshadows a policy whereby revolutionary uprisings are to be judged not by their social content, but according to how they fit into power plans.

In all power plans the question of the future of Germany is pivotal. It is the life and death question to the Soviets. The Soviets must and will prevent that Germany, under any conditions, may orient herself westward and increase the potential of the western powers. Never again will the Soviets permit the condition by which, through some possible future Munich, Germany, as any part of it, is given a green light eastward. To prevent this they contemplate creating eternal sources of friction between Germany and her neighbors. The partition of Poland, and her compensation with the reward of Prussian territory east of the Oder, and its resettlement by Poles will accomplish the former. The creation of a separate Rhineland-Ruhr state, projected by M. Bidault, General de Gaulle, Foreign Minister, as a sort of French industrial colony, will accomplish the latter. The entire Polish state will be within the Soviet orbit in any case and the possibility of Russian consent for the later reunion of the Rhineland-Ruhr with the Reich will give the Soviets control over French policy.

The Soviets are as close students of Geo-politics as the Germans, and the Russian war college as familiar with Haushofer (out of MacKinder) as the German. The concept "Eurasia," based on control of the central mainland of the great continent, is as clear to the Russians as to the Germans. If Hitler could say, "had I possession of the resources of the Ukraine, I could build an unassailable state," the Russians also know that had they control of the German industrial power, they would accomplish the same end. This concept was uppermost in the Russian policy at the height of the Russian revolution in 1932, and when, due to the chaos produced by the inflation, the chaos seemed to be tottering. Few powers refuse the temptation of further power. The greatest temptation is Germany. The question is whether circumstances will favor this.

One thing is certain. The Soviets do not think in sophomoric terms of "good" and "evil" nations, nor do they permit emotions of revenge to determine a policy. Punishment of war criminals may have many interruptions and serve various purposes. Shifts in populations have a political effect, and that effect will be taken into calculation. The Russians have, I think, alternative policies. But each policy is implemented by a consequential program.

Given one program, the Russians have the nucleus of a government for Germany. They have been preparing it, and quite openly, the past year and a half. They have a trained German police force made up of converted prisoners of war, and if estimates are correct it approaches the size of the pre-Hitler German police. This systematic preparation has to be compared with the complete and inexcusable lack of preparation for our share in a German occupation. Within the last few days our war department has announced it has managed to guarantee that Nazis do not murder anti-Nazi prisoners in German camps. We must have well over a million German prisoners of war, all of whom will have to be repatriated to Germany, who are exactly the same material as the German prisoners in Russia. But we have not taken the Russian line and have created neither a civilian nor a police apparatus. Result: The Russian occupation will be systematic, and ours will be invented, by rule of thumb, on the spot.

The solution of this dilemma certainly does not lie in further drawing of spheres of influence. Germany is the issue on this question. Unless I completely misread the situation, the division of Germany will create, eventually, one sphere of influence in Germany—not two, not three and not four. Therefore a common policy and, if possible, a common military occupation, is virtually necessary.

Low Rental Projects

Provisions Covering Slum Clearance Are Also Important

By GRANT DEXTER

While interest in the Housing act centres in the loans to individuals, the provisions covering low-rental housing and slum clearance are also important. This is true not only because the policy is much more experimental but because the neediest section of the population, in terms of housing, can only be reached in some such way as this. It is true that measures like family allowances will transfer a part of the renter class into the owner class, but in any event, there will be a very large number of people whose only hope of improved accommodation lies in low-rental projects.

This part of the act may be summarized under four divisions:

1. Ordinary commercial rental housing.
2. Low-cost rental housing to be built by a new kind of corporation.
3. Co-operative rental projects to be carried through by insurance companies or other designated lending agencies.
4. Slum clearance.

The first division is really just an adaptation of the individual loan technique to encourage persons to build not for themselves but for rent. Apartment houses are included in this division. The Government will provide 25 per cent of the loans, the lending agency 75 per cent. Loans may not exceed 80 per cent of the value. The interest rate to the borrower will be 4 1/2 per cent and repayment can be spread over 20 years or longer if there are proper zoning regulations.

The second division is low-rental housing projects, built and managed under Government supervision, to be rented to persons of low income. The building will be done by limited dividend housing corporations. One such has been established in Montreal. These corporations put up 10 per cent of the capital and the Government provides the balance. Dividends are limited to 5 per cent. The Montreal corporation has voluntarily stipulated for 2 per cent. The loans are to run for a period up to 50 years.

Any province, municipality, social agency, trust or person may make contributions to a rent reduction fund, which will be used to reduce the rent to needy families. No project of this kind will be authorized unless the need for it is proved. Surplus earnings will be disposed of by a separate agreement. If the project is sold, any profit is to be turned over to the Government. The corporation cannot make a capital profit. When and the capital invested has been repaid, the title will pass either to the municipality or the Dominion government, not to the corporation.

The Montreal corporation was organized by public spirited citizens who raised $300,000. The Government put up $2,700,000. Some 900 dwellings are to be built.

The third division involves the most radical departure of all. Life insurance companies, singly or in combination, are permitted to invest up to 5 per cent of their assets in Canada in low-cost or moderate-cost rental projects. These projects can include, in addition to houses, retail stores, shops, offices—but not hotels. The government will give a limited guarantee to these projects. If the management puts all earnings above 6 per cent into a reserve and agrees to repay the government out of such reserve all advances which may have been made, a guarantee may be given of 2 1/2 per cent per annum return to the company on the cost of the project for the period of its life or for not more than 50 years.

This is an attempt to introduce large scale housing projects into this country, along the line of insurance company projects in the United States. There is nothing so far, however, to indicate that the insurance companies are interested.

The fourth is slum clearance. Here the municipalities are the agencies to be used. The government, under the act, may assist municipalities in slum clearance projects by paying one half of the excess cost of acquisition. In most cases, it was pointed out by Mr. Lisle, the cost of land in slum clearance areas is increased by the buildings on it. These buildings must be paid for although they will be demolished. It is not regarded as practical to charge excess costs of this kind against a low-rental housing project. If the municipality finds half of this excess cost, the price of the land could be brought down to the level where new construction could proceed. Provinces, of course, are free to help out their municipalities in this regard.

The slum clearance appropriation is $20 millions. It is not very large but as Mr. Lisle pointed out, it can always be increased if the demand warrants.

Keep Within Your Family Budget

Must Be Custom Tailored For Each Particular Family or It Won't Fit

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

About now all the Christmas and year-end bills have come and been paid. How about going into a financial huddle with your family to figure out what happened to last year's budget and how to turn over a new leaf that will be the right page and chapter.

Perhaps the most amazing thing about a budget is that it has to be custom tailored for each particular family, and unless it is, it doesn't fit.

It is almost impossible for anyone else to make another person's budget. Your problems are different.

Before trying to fit a budget to your income find out what your total yearly income from all sources would probably be. Then get the net income by subtracting all deductions that will be made in your income and over which you have no control such as income tax and unemployment insurance.

You are now ready to work on the basis of what's left, because that is all the real income you actually have to spend.

Don't Cheat

Lots of people cheat on their budget who are honest everywhere else. So don't cheat! That means—don't juggle the figures around to make them look like what they are not.

And don't cover up at a family conference, hoping you can somehow or other make it come out without admitting an extravagant slip here and there.

Don't base plans for cutting down on fixed costs that can't be chiselled on enough to count.

staring you in the face accusingly. They must be considered in the weekly apportioning of income.

Fixed Expenses

We all know approximately what our fixed obligations and expenses are going to be for the year. This includes insurance, all types, including life, household and car (if you have one). Make a notebook with a record of the amount of the premium on each policy and when it is due. Be sure to take this to the family conference and have it yearly recorded that even 12-year-old Johnny can understand it.

Remember not all your income tax is deducted by your employer. So remember to include that as well as your property tax in your list of fixed obligations.

How about adding up your insurance premiums, your taxes and your payments on debt? Now divide this total by 12 or 52 so that you will know how much to STETTNER: Ladies of the Royal Purple Lodge elected officers at the annual meeting held this week when Mrs. E. Morrison was made honorable royal lady. Others elected include: Mrs. George Wyllie, PHRL; Mrs. William Goettl, ARL; Mrs. William Wagner, RL; Mrs. Thomas Bateman, LL; Miss Enid Blakey, secretary; Mrs. J. Szapko, treasurer; Mrs. G. Seaby, chaplain; Mrs. Fred Watson, conductress; Miss Joyce Dennis, IG; Miss Paschke, OG; Mrs. Drever, Mrs. Tigner and Mrs. Opitz, trustees; Mrs. William Olive, planist.

MORRIN: Mrs. Perreel, of Morrin, has received news of her parents in France from Claude B. Paul, of Toronto, who is with the Canadian Army in France. Mrs. Perreel had only received one other letter with news of her parents in the past four years. They are reported to be well.

HOLDEN: Holden branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society held its annual meeting recently when a report showed $1,800 was raised during the year. Mrs. W. R. Stewart was elected president and J. C. R. Driscoll, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. A. K. James is head of the work room. A one-day short course in agriculture, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, attracted a large crowd at both the afternoon and evening meetings. Businessmen of Holden were hosts to the farmers at a supper served in the Lutheran church dining room to 200 persons.

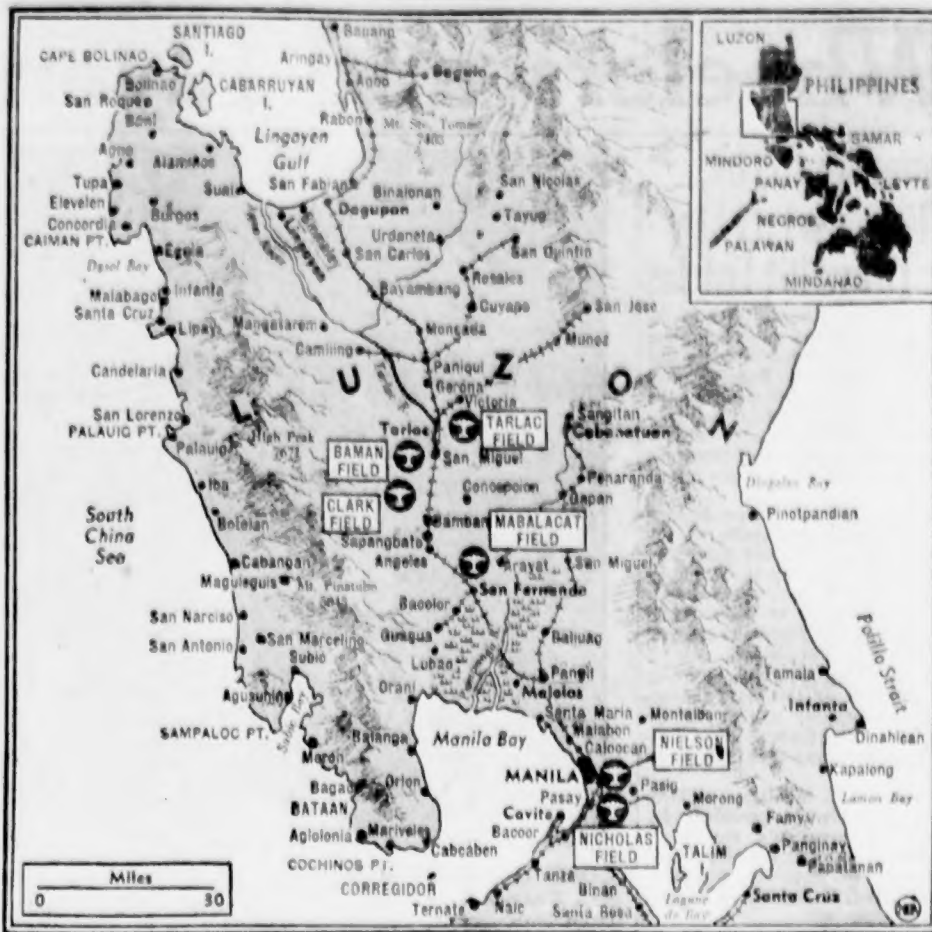

ALLIANCE: The Masonic Lodge in Alliance held its ladies' night on Wednesday when the program included a banquet and musical program which consisted of a solo by Mrs. D. F. Cyriss; solo by S. Mallett; a medley by Pat Smith; piano duet, the Rev. and Mrs. D. F. Cyriss; chorus, Pat Smith, Natalie Shepard, Elaine and Lila Ysane, Doreen Bennett, Isobel Alcorn and Joyce Buckland; solo, Mrs. L. J. Shepard and community singing led by S. Mallett. N. B. Anderson was chairman and 75 persons attended. Mrs. Bates, widow of a former Mason, spoke briefly to the Masons thanking them for the invitation. Mrs. N. B. Anderson spoke briefly on behalf of the ladies thanking the Masons for "their night". Those serving were Mrs. S. Wilkinson, Pat Smith, Elaine and Lila Ysane, Natalie Shepard, Doreen Bennett and Joyce Buckland.

BOWDEN: The Canadian Legion and ladies' auxiliary, BESE, held a farewell dinner and presentation for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith for Jan. 15. The couple is leaving the district. Fifty members sat down to dinner. President Buchanan welcomed L. David Burnham, who recently returned from overseas. President Clark spoke for the ladies' auxiliary. Other speakers were: F. D. Shaw, MP; Mrs. J. Tyler, the Rev. Mr. Waddell and B. Dennett. A card party was held with the following winners: W. Hayhurst, first; Rex Waddell, consolation; Mrs. C. Walle, first; Mrs. Clark, consolation.

ENDIAN: When a meeting of the Women's club of Endiang was held at the home of Mrs. E. L. Ballinger, 12 women, who attended, worked on a quilt, which they will sell to raise money for community needs. Plans were made for a bean supper to be held soon. The hockey game scheduled for Sunday was cancelled owing to cases of mumps among members of the team.

CLIVE: The church report, given by Mrs. C. Coste at the congregational meeting on Sunday showed the minister was paid in full and a balance of $75 was in the bank. The ladies' aid and other groups had raised a total of $1,349.03; expenses were $799.44, leaving a balance of $549.59, $300 of which had been used to purchase Victory Bonds. The CGIT girls elected the following officers for 1945: president, Gayle Allen; vice-president, Jean Kenworthy; secretary, Sylvia Kenworthy; Eileen Knight, social committee; Betty Duffy and Dorothy Steadman; program, Nora Short and Dale Duffy.

CLIVE: Mr. and Mrs. Godherson and family, of Loughheed, have arrived in Clive to take up residence. They are new owners of the Red and White store, recently purchased from Mrs. G. Scott. Mr. and Mrs. D. Hudkins of Clive, oldtimers here, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on Jan. 20. Both are active and in fairly good health.

DAILY WAR MAP—EXCLUSIVELY IN THE EDMONTON BULLETIN

McCoy Health Service

It is natural for us to be joyous and cheerful. It is not natural to wake up feeling tired and grouchy. A good disposition is an indication of good digestion; a sour disposition, a sour stomach.

Instead of anticipating the day's possibilities of activity and accomplishment as a well person would, the sick person arises tired, cross and irritable. He dreads the day's problems rather than welcomes its possibilities. Yet, that tired feeling may be changed to that grand and glorious feeling if one will take the trouble to cultivate health and the right mental attitude.

One who tires easily or becomes tremulously and winded after a short walk should have a careful physical examination to discover what needs to be done to avert the impending disease, because listlessness and tiredness are two of nature's warning signals. The increasing nervousness is the forerunner of disease, as it indicates that the patient's energy is gradually being stolen away or being dissipated, which leaves him weaker and weaker.

A pronounced tired feeling is one of the first indications of tuberculosis, diabetes, anemia and other serious diseases. Yet many times people will feel tired simply because of auto-intoxication, without

Graft and Crime Are Said Caused By War Controls

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(Reuters)—J. Gibson Jarvie, prominent British banker, yesterday said wartime controls have led to so much graft and crime in Britain—more than at any time in history—that "regimentation" may lead to gangsterdom becoming a major industry.

"There is no market which has not its racketeers, no department which is not riddled with deceit and evasion," he said. "If we carry out regimentation much further you will find in England the same conditions that existed in America during prohibition. Gangsterdom will become a major industry and the best paid."

Take Large Staff To "Big Three" Meet

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden will take with them to the "Big Three" conference the largest staff of political, economic and military experts that ever has accompanied them to such a meeting, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

THREE goals up and only 12 minutes away from the final bell, RCAF Flyers appeared to be in a reasonably secure position in last night's services hockey session, despite the fact the Red Deer Army puckmen had kept an offensive rolling right from the start of the period.

Ed Harding's counter at 9:20 seemed to supply the required spark and the Flyers skated off the ice on even terms. No overtime was played and so three no-decision affairs in a row is the situation today. Wouldn't be a bad idea though to turn in a complete job one of these days, for ties are never very satisfactory—certainly the fans don't go for them.

There have been rumors about the three-club services circuit might fold up, in view of the situation which has prevailed at Wetaskiwin. However, the latest report is that Wetaskiwin Army received reinforcements in a recent draft—Reg Bentley and Tommy Anderson being two of the names mentioned.

Over 500 paying customers were out Tuesday night and those who passed up the game missed a swell exhibition of fast and at times rather rugged hockey. All three Red Deer Army and RCAF clashes have been good—last night's was the best—and they have been deserving of better support.

BIG MARGIN TO WHEELERS
WHEELERS outshot the Flyers 47 to 18, the greater part of the difference being marked up in the final period, when Army fired 20 to RCAF's two. Figures for the other two sessions were 12 to 9 and 15 to 7.

Army had seven shots at Goale Turgeon during the 12th and 13th minutes of the last chapter. Turgeon made some very difficult stops during the game, rebounds proving his only weakness.

Clippers and Namao Advance In Alaskan Cage Semi-Finals

Two local teams, Namao Air Base and U.S. Clippers survived the second round of the Alaskan Division semi-final tournament Tuesday night and advanced into the final at Northwest Air Command drill hall. These two clubs will meet tonight in the second half of a doubleheader at the same place.

The Namao cagers eliminated the Division Headquarters hoopers 32-28 in the first game last night while Great Falls couldn't hold up under the pressure of the Clippers and dropped out with a 50-32 defeat.

The first game was one of the closest of the tourney and it was only a final burst of power by the Namao club that gave them their win. They were behind in the dying minutes of play when "Tex" Wheeler and Bill Loy gave out with some extra strength to pick up the winning points.

Loy and Wheeler led the scoring list with nine and 10 points respectively for Namao while "Red" Williams was best for the Division squad with eight.

The second game was a 5-5 standoff at the end of the first quarter, but Namao moved ahead in the second, the half time score being 15-14. Division came back in the third to go ahead 24-22, but the winners put on the pressure in the last to win out.

CORNWELL COUNTS 14
Lowell Cornwell with 14, John Panvini with 10, John Galvin with nine and Roy Bundy with eight paced the Clippers' attack in the second game against the last of the visiting clubs. Lawson was again high man for Great Falls with 13, while Duffy also turned in a nice 10 points.

The Clippers took the lead in the first period and remained ahead thereafter. They out-scored the visitors 12-7 in the initial chapter and counted 23 to their opposition's six in the second to take a comfortable 35-13 lead at the half. The winners slowed up after that and only matched six points with Great Falls in the third and were out-scored 15-9 in the last.

Canadian Derby, 'Peg Futurity Draw 151 Entries

WINNIPEG, Jan. 24.—(CP)—A report to the annual meeting of the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders and Racing Association Tuesday said there were 151 entries made for the 1947 Winnipeg Futurity for two-year-olds and 91 entries for the 1947 Canadian Derby for three-year-olds. Entries for the two classics closed Jan. 1.

The report of R. James Speers, honorary secretary, spoke of the 1944 racing as a banner year. The pari-mutuel handling in Winnipeg broke all records, Calgary meets were the best in 15 years, while both Regina and Saskatoon enjoyed the best season in history.

Return of racing to Edmonton was the highlight of 1944, said the report. Attendance, mutual handle and purse distribution in the Alberta capital was the highest on record.

Li-Col. F. F. Montague of Winnipeg, was elected president for 1945. Vice presidents are N. J. Christie of Calgary, Alberta; H. J. Hickey of Winnipeg, for Manitoba; and J. F. Lunney of Regina, for Saskatchewan.

Directors are: Alberta—Col. Frank Eaton, Alex. J. M. Douglas, Edmonton; L. Williams, Edmonton.

Saskatchewan—S. G. Harrison, Fort Qu'Appelle; Dr. F. G. Salisbury, Saskatoon; Dr. E. T. Myers, Roseburg.

Manitoba—J. F. Keyes, N. J. Breen and R. H. Moore, all of Winnipeg.

Public Reaction Baseball's Worry At Present Time

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Baseball is worried over what the public reaction will be if teams take the field this spring. Government officials are being urged to clarify the status of players who may be available under wartime regulations.

The situation shapes up this way: The war mobilization director, James Byrnes, has said that the pros can work or fight if they can compete in the hardest games. Selective service and the army are cracking down on them in physical reviews.

Some of the game's leaders fear that all this may cause the public to turn a cold shoulder to the teams, not only by staying away from the games but by saying unkind things about the players.

A high-placed representative of the game said Tuesday that baseball doesn't want any player whose qualifications for service have not been closely checked.

What baseball wants is for the general public to understand that any player who puts on a league uniform for the 1945 season does so because the army and navy hadn't a place for him.

Police Officers Coach Puck Clubs
TORONTO, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Combating juvenile delinquency, at the same time lifting the apprehension that some boys have for police officers, members of police forces now are entering the hockey field as managers of teams in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. It was learned here Tuesday.

Police Chief Lockhart Trinnell of Crowland, in the Niagara Falls area, is managing and coaching a team grouped with Welland, Dunnville, Thorold and Humberstone in the juvenile B series. Constable Thomas Sims of Meaford, has also entered a juvenile B team in the OMHA playoffs.

Come 36 Seconds Apart

Two Goals by Earl Seibert Give Detroit 5-4 Triumph

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Big Earl Seibert scored twice in 36 seconds late in the third period to give Detroit Red Wings their 13th consecutive National Hockey League victory over Boston Bruins by a 5-4 margin Tuesday night before a 12,000 crowd at the Boston Garden. Both tallies were made while the home forces played shorthanded.

The Bruins, who have not defeated the Wings since Dec. 28, 1943, spotted them two early corners but started the final with a 2-2 lead after scoring three times in almost three minutes during the second session.

As soon as the third period got under way, Seibert led a charge and drove a steaming 45-foot shot that was batted into the Boston cage by rookie Earl Seibert.

Tony Hukovich after it smashed against goalie Paul Bibeault's pads. During the 14th minute, Bill Cowley set up a close-up goal for Bill Thoms.

Just as the Bruins were gathering themselves to nurse their slim margin, rookie Armand Gaudreault drew a penalty for holding Murray Armstrong and big Si Wheeler into action. He blazed through Bibeault from 30 feet after taking a passout from Syd Howe and then rifled his winning counter without assistance from 40 feet out.

Godoy Is Again Invading U.S.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Arturo Godoy, the only man of the Andes, is off on his third boxing invasion of the United States.

The Chilean, who twice has met heavyweight champion Joe Louis in title bouts, left for the United States by plane Tuesday. He lost a 15-round decision to Louis Feb. 9, 1940 but was knocked out in the eighth round of their second scrap June 20, also in 1940.

"My punch has gained a lot of power," Godoy said just before boarding the plane.

15 Local Skaters Enter Sask. Meet

A total of 15 skaters are expected to leave Thursday to represent Edmonton in the coming Saskatchewan speed skating championships in Saskatoon Friday night.

There will be seven members of the Westmount club—Jim Wood, Jack Cronin, Don Enns, Roy Kinneer, Jack Kinneer, Pat Guba and Barbara Robertson—going in addition to five from the Rosedale club and three from Jasper Place.

Nola McKenzie and Ab Hardy are included in the Jasper Place entries while Baba and Bill Kasting and Bill and Georgina Korte are among those from Rosedale.

Chyzyk, Walter Gack, Clark Parker and Tommy Rocky.

Nikiforuk Nets Three For RCAF

JACK FORSEY'S soft goal go with just over a minute to go in the final period gave Red Deer Army Wheelers a 4-4 tie with Edmonton RCAF Flyers in Tuesday night's Northern Alberta Services Hockey League fixture. It was the third successive deadlock played by these two clubs on Arena ice.

Trailing 3-0 as they entered the last 20 minutes, Wheelers counted four times to Flyers' once, Ed Harding, Dave Morland and Jack Culverwell all scoring before the former Toronto Maple Leaf player secured the tying marker. In addition to his third period tally, Al Nikiforuk bulged the hemp twice in the middle session, Herman Wagner tallying the only goal in the initial heat.

Red Deer Army and the RCAF team played an 8-8 no decision affair here on Dec. 18, and the opening game of the league on Jan. 9, also resulted in a 4-4 deadlock.

In addition to securing the only goal of the opening period, the Edmonton airmen held their own in territorial play.

Nikiforuk was sent off at the three-minute mark for not returning both parts of his broken stick and while he was serving the penalty, Army failed to get a single shot at Turgeon.

Wagner gave the RCAF boys the lead at 15:22 when he batted in "Red" Ryan's rebound.

Both teams had three shots on the opposing net during the first five minutes of the second period.

Nikiforuk combined with Wagner at 6:39 to give Flyers a 2-0 lead. It was a pretty goal, Nikiforuk finally beating Clamptitt from just a few feet.

Wheelers were unable to capitalize on their manpower advantage when Arvie Wilson received a boarding penalty at 14 minutes, although they just buzzed around the RCAF net.

During the last three minutes of the period, Wheelers had six shots on goal to one for Flyers, but the single RCAF try was good for another score.

Piper was sent off for tripping with exactly a minute to go and Flyers immediately applied the pressure and in nine seconds produced a goal.

Wilson shot from the blue line and Ryan passed to Nikiforuk and the Flyers' center bounced the puck into the net off Goalie Clamptitt as he swung out from behind the goal.

The soldiers completely dominated play during the final 20 minutes, actually out-shooting their opponents 20 to 2.

Army's first goal came at 2:12. Culverwell rushed and drilled one at Turgeon just as he passed over the blue line, the RCAF goalie deflecting the rubber into the corner. Jack Shill recovered and passed out to Harding who was uncovered in front of the net.

Nikiforuk raised the Flyers' margin to 4-1 following a breakaway at 8:18. Al went all the way from his own blue line, getting into the clear after evading a couple of Wheelers in mid-ice. He drew out Clamptitt and neatly deposited the rubber in the net. It was the first shot on the Army goal in that period.

Morland put the Army back into the game at 9:20 with the help of Shill and Culverwell, slapping the puck past Turgeon off a rebound.

Army continued to press and with the hand of the big clock resting at 13 had four shots on Turgeon in a matter of seconds.

Culverwell scored at 17:00 following another rebound, having nothing to do but sink the rubber when Turgeon went down after

Esaw shot, leaving the goal wide open.

Forsey's tying counter was an easy slider from about 20 feet, the puck slipping between the goalie and the post.

Bonspiel Finishes Today

Mrs. R. L. Smith's Rink Captures T. Eaton Trophy

FOUR more events were completed in the Northern Alberta Women's Curling Association bonspiel at the Alberta Avenue ice on Thursday. Mrs. R. L. Smith's rink became the new holders of the T. Eaton trophy (grand challenge). Mrs. A. Christiansen won the Hudson's Bay cup final, Mrs. W. Mowbray captured the Dentyne silverware (City) and Mrs. O. I. Croonquist skipped her crew to victory in the Jackson.

Mrs. Smith's Alberta Avenue curlers became the new challenge champions by defeating Mrs. W. Shaffer of Royal, 13-8 in the final of the noon draw yesterday. Mrs. Christiansen of Royal won 10-9 from Mrs. M. McIvor in the Hudson's Bay final while Mrs. Mowbray beat Mrs. Christiansen 9-7 in the city final and Mrs. Croonquist turned back the last of the out-of-town rinks, Mrs. Ethel Lees, 11-10 in the Jackson.

Only one event remained to be completed after Mrs. R. L. Smith Tuesday's draw. It was the Sheppard, final of which was scheduled to commence this morning at 10 o'clock between Mrs. L. LeClere of Alberta Avenue and Mrs. M. E. Carroll of Royal. The Visitors' won by Mrs. LeClere of Red Deer, finished last Saturday.

Mrs. Smith, a member of the runner-up rink the last time the ladies were out in force, did a neat bit of skipping and rock throwing to bring her crew down in front of the main competition. Her rink took a 7-0 lead on the first three ends, counting two threes and a one, and then had things fairly easy.

Third prize in the Eaton event went to Mrs. O. A. Brown and fourth to Mrs. W. R. Howson of Granite.

Score by ends of final:
Smith ... 213 002 120 001—12
Shaffer ... 000 110 003 300—8

Personnel of rinks:
Mrs. R. L. Smith (skip), Mrs. L. G. Beccroft, Mrs. W. R. Thornton, Mrs. G. T. Evans.

Mrs. W. Shaffer (skip), Mrs. L. C. McIntyre, Mrs. T. Sheppard, Mrs. W. Neill.

Mrs. O. A. Brown (skip), Mrs. D. Robinson, Mrs. T. Hughes, Mrs. R. V. Mrs. W. R. Howson (skip), Mrs. H. Wolfe, Mrs. C. Sims, Mrs. W. J. McLeod.

HUDSON'S BAY FINAL
In the Hudson's Bay final, Mrs. Christiansen and a McIvor also of the Royal won a real match, the winning rink was ahead 10-5 at the end of the eighth. The McIvor four counted on the first end and were on even terms with the victors at the half way point, but Mrs. Christiansen counted four ends in a row to almost clinch the trophy.

Mrs. Pbt Rose took third prize

Esaw shot, leaving the goal wide open.

Forsey's tying counter was an easy slider from about 20 feet, the puck slipping between the goalie and the post.

Believe It Or Not

By Robt. Ripley

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(BUP)—While the bewildered baseball world speculated today on possible developments at the Frick-Hershey conference, George M. Weiss, manager of New York Yankee farm operations, asserted that neither the major leagues nor upper-classification minors would carry on if forced to depend entirely upon teen age players.

A similar opinion of the teenagers may have been given by Ford Frick, president of the national league, to Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, during their conference at Washington Monday.

Frick—who, since the death of commissioner Landis, seems to have become a long needed spokesman for baseball—requested the Hershey conference, thereby deviating from the sport's stupidly passive policy of asking no wartime questions of Washington brass hats. Frick apparently wants the manpower muddle clarified before the major league meetings in New York, Feb. 3.

MAY HAVE TO CLOSE PARKS

DESPITE President Roosevelt's recent, befogged "green light" organized baseball was confronted today with possibilities of depending entirely upon players under 18 or of closing the parks. While this alternative was not definite, it was indirectly threatened by the war department's recent crack down on 4-F athletes and medical discharges, and by impending legislation designed to shift able bodied male civilians, between 18 and 45, from non essential jobs into war plants.

Officials of the American legion junior baseball program co-operated with the major leagues' advisory council last week in making the legion's youthful talent available for professional ball. A previous agreement had prevented this. Between 300,000 and 500,000 youngsters will be available.

But, according to George Weiss, "not more than a dozen of these legion youngsters could climb into major league uniforms and give the fans even a semblance of major league play. You couldn't expect them to; big leaguers are not made over night."

MINORS WOULD FOLD UP

WEISS, in his statement to the British United Press, continued, "If we had to depend entirely upon these kids, we wouldn't be able to find enough properly developed talent to keep the minor circuits going, with the possible exception of the three 'D' leagues—the Appalachian, the Pony and the Ohio State. Moreover, just as soon as these boys reach the age 18, they will be subject to work or fight, if the May bill goes through."

Weiss, one of the best informed and one of the most practical men in the game, concluded, "If baseball is forced to depend entirely upon teen age players, the majors and most of the minors will have to close their parks."

In Monday's conference with Major General Hershey, Frick probably stressed the impossibility of youngsters trying to fill major league gaps; and that if the 4-Fs and discharges were taken from the game by the recently ordered re-examinations, it would mean the end of wartime baseball.

These re-examinations menace the players because of the directive announced Saturday, demanding that any army induction station proposing to reject a professional athlete for army service hereafter must submit "all the facts in the case" to the war department for review. No such review has been

Canadians 'B' Trim S. Side; Leafs, 49th Bn. Deadlock 4-4

Paced by Roy Merkel with three goals and an assist, Canadians "B" whipped South Side 6-4 in the first half of Tuesday night's City Juvenile Hockey League doubleheader at 119 Street rink. Maple Leafs and 49th Battalion battled to a 4-4 draw in the second game.

Canadians, who moved into second place of the CAC No. 1 squad, scored two early in the first period, Purdie and Merkel driving home the rubber, but South Side came back to tie it up before the canto ended with goals by Harvie Silzer and Bill Whiting.

Canadians moved out in front again in the second with Suggen netting two markers, but again the South Siders came back to tie it up as Silzer and Allister McKenzie tallied.

Merkel put the Canadians ahead to stay early in the third period, and then before the game was over took a pass from Suggen to clinch the contest.

In the other game, the Maple Leafs and Forty-Niners battled close all the way. Bill Stanton put the Leafs ahead in the first period and before the second was very old, Jim Hole made it 2-0. Leafs got in the scoring parade in this canto, however, and tied it up with goals by Armand Beauchamp and Roy Forrest.

Doug Sullivan made it 3-2 for the 49th Battalion squad in the third, but Chuck Wallis came back with two in a row to put the Leafs ahead for the first time. The Army team deadlocked the count before the game ended, however, Moe Weidenspiel driving home a pass from Stanton.

Two Edmonton Marksmen Place On All-Star Club

MONTREAL, Jan. 24.—Paced by J. Cornelius Hiebert of Nanton, Alta., fifteen western marksmen—eleven of them from Alberta—gained places on Canada's 20-man 1944 "all-star" outdoor rifle team, the Canadian Small Bore Association announced today.

Placing eighth on the 1943 team, Hiebert shot brilliantly during the past summer to win first place this year with a near-perfect average of 99.230 per cent. Climbing from third to second place, Jim Edmonds, veteran marksman of Medicine Hat, made a close race of it with a season's average of 99.188 per cent.

Charles R. Nash and Roy Cox of this city, who shoot with the North Edmonton Battalion, Veterans' Volunteer Reserve, placed 14th and 17th respectively.

Best in Eastern Canada, and the only woman to gain a place on the "All-Star" team, is Marie Barnes of Wyoming, Ontario, whose average of 99.063 gained her third place.

To qualify for the "All-Star" team, its members fired matches totalling a minimum of 1,200 points in the 1944 summer program, excluding the "Any Shots" and "50-Meter" matches.

Team members and their averages, as announced by the CSBA are: 1. J. Cornelius Hiebert, Nanton, Alta. 99.230; 2. James R. Edmonds, Medicine Hat, 99.188; 3. Marie (Mrs. G.) Barnes, Ontario, 99.063; 4. C. A. Stroud, Nanton, Alta. 99.058; 5. Martin Ouellet, Calgary, 99.075; 6. Sid H. Thompson, Wyoming, Ont. 99.750; 7. James A. Irvine, Vancouver, 98.550; 8. A. Gourlay, Calgary, 98.400; 9. Dave Clement, Peterborough, Ont. 98.350; 10. Ray T. Heninger, Wingham, Alta. 98.180; 11. Geoff. W. F. Barwick, Montreal, 97.800; 12. Chas. D. French, Winnipeg, 97.417; 13. L. Paulsen, Calgary, 97.280; 14. Charles R. Nash, Edmonton, 96.850; 15. Arnold W. Park, Winnipeg, 96.030; 16. A. R. Blomquist, Calgary, 96.000; 17. Roy Cox, Edmonton, and A. R. H. (Tony) Hearn, Montreal, tied with 96.025; 18. R. Mark, Vancouver, 96.340; 19. W. H. (Bill) Savage, Lethbridge, Alta. 95.583.

Mountain Park Loses to Edson

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
EDSON, Jan. 24.—Mountain Park's hockey team journey to Edson last week-end and was turned back with two losses. The Edson club won Saturday night's game 4-3 and then nosed out the visitors 3-1 on Sunday afternoon.

Kowalschuk with two, Lupul and Reynolds with one each were the Edson scorers on Saturday night while Bracko, Gould and Baruzzini netted the three for Mountain Park.

Lemotte and Kutyn with two markers were the Edson snipers in the Sunday game while Gould drove home the only Mountain Park tally.

Attacked by Dogs: Youth Badly Hurt

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Twelve-year-old Fred Culver of suburban North York, was rushed to hospital here and given a blood transfusion yesterday after he was attacked by two dogs and stripped of his clothes down to his hunk and skates. The boy was rescued from the tearing fangs of the dogs by two women. Both arms were badly bitten, his ears chewed badly and the skin was torn from his forehead and down his left cheek.

Germans Blow Up Hindenburg Tomb

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The German DNI agency claimed Tuesday that the national monument to Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg at Tannenberg, captured by the Red Army on Sunday, had been "blown up" after the coffin of Von Hindenburg, his wife, and the colors of the East Prussian and West Prussian regiments had been removed to a place of safety.

Vancouver Plans Big Development

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Vancouver's anticipated capital development for the next decade will be approximately $60,000,000, and represents almost double the amount of the city's estimated borrowing power for the next 10 years, a special committee of civic officials reported to city council yesterday. The $60,000,000 program includes $11,500,000 for schools, $8,200,000 for park improvements and $1,250,000 for an auditorium.

secretary of the Okanagan Valley Co-operative said: "The department of national revenue has, quite rightly, appointed a commission of inquiry to investigate all co-operative enterprises in Canada with regard to corporation income and excess profits taxation. Our association welcomes this study. As a bona-fide non-profit farmers' organization with no income of any kind, our organization has nothing to fear."

Eric Richardson, Calgary chartered accountant who read the brief on behalf of Southern Alberta Independent Dairies, contended if corporate bodies are to be taxed as separate units from their members, all corporate bodies should be fairly taxed on the same basis and by the same rules, without distinction.

Questioned by E. T. Parker of Halifax, commission counsel, Mr. Richardson said "co-operatives do everything possible to avoid taxation. They receive benefits the statute does not confer on them at the present time."

"UNTRAMMELED POWERS"

In his brief Mr. Richardson said co-operatives have "untrammelled powers" insofar as taxation is concerned as to expenditures for advertising, repairs and maintenance of plant, and any other expenditures which may aid in the development of their business. He asserted that due to the high level of economic activity which has existed during the past few years, the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool, Edmonton, and other co-operatives have been able to build up large surpluses for expansion.

On the other hand, he added, non co-operative business is "severely handicapped" in its efforts to set aside the necessary reserves for post-war industrial expansion. "The trend so long as taxation exists in its present form will be towards a constant increase in the number of associations and volume of business transacted by co-operative concerns."

The 13 dairies represented were: Union Milk Company Ltd., Central Creameries Ltd., Crystal Dairy Ltd., and Model Dairies, all of Calgary; Purity Dairy, City Dairy and Jersey Dairy, Lethbridge; Carstairs Creamery, Carstairs; High River Creamery, High River; Independent Creameries Ltd., Innisfail; Okotoks Creamery, Okotoks; Rimbey Creamery, Rimbey; and Rocky Mountain House Creamery, Rocky Mountain House.

BUILT BY FARMERS

Mr. Clarke said his organization was formed in 1925 and now has 1,200 members. It was built from "the ground up, by farmers whose one desire was to take democratic action to help each other on a class basis."

Since its organization members have received "a premium, a payment in excess of market prices, of approximately $500,000" paid in the form of cash and ownership revolving fund share certificates.

Charles Hilton of Calgary, who presented the brief on behalf of the Southern Alberta section of the Canadian Automotive Wholesalers' Association, said the association is composed of corporations and individually-owned companies in the business of distributing automobile, truck and tractor parts, equipment and supplies to retail garages, automobile and implement dealers, and other similar retail service outlets and charged co-operatives have already entered our field of activity.

The brief said the association "could not see any justice or fair play in exempting one class of business from taxation, thus forcing the burden of national debt on other business." Shareholders in private enterprise companies should not have their companies taxed to "prevent accumulation of surplus in favor of shareholders in a co-operative venture."

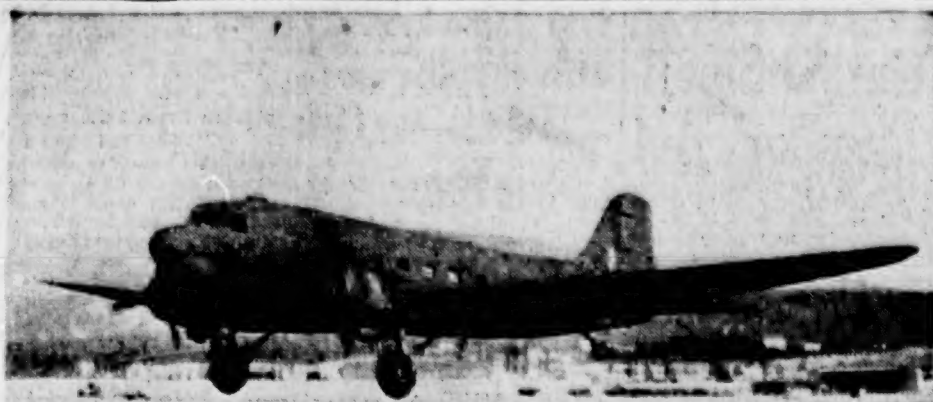

The three-day sitting here concludes Wednesday with a brief presented on behalf of the Alberta provincial board of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada Inc. The commission then will go to Edmonton for hearings Thursday and Friday.

RETURN NEARER HOME

LONDON. (CP)—The government has decided that war workers who are released from jobs to which they were directed away from their homes will, as far as practicable, be re-transferred to work of national importance nearer home.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW—"Stinks, doesn't it? I saw it in Edmonton six years ago!"

BOMBER PILOTS FLY FREIGHT—Every morning at eight-thirty sharp—so sharp that you can almost set your watch by its departure—the RCAF "sked run" leaves Edmonton for Whitehorse, Y.T., 1,100 miles to the north and equally promptly every morning at seven-thirty, Yukon time, another aircraft of the sked run leaves Whitehorse for Edmonton. The sked run is operated by an RCAF heavy transport squadron attached to North West Air Command. Many of the pilots operating on the line have returned from operations overseas. Upper picture shows one of the squadron's Douglas C-47 transports just leaving the RCAF base at Watson Lake, Y.T., on the last leg of the run north. Below are some of the squadron's fliers, left to right: Squadron Leader Eric Hamber, DFC, of Vancouver and Hamilton, the commanding officer of the squadron; Flt. Lt. H. A. Walker, DSO, DFC, Shawville, Que.; Flight Lieutenant J. G. Rowand, DFC, Hamilton; FO, E. M. Rosenbaum, AFC, of Winnipeg; Flying Officer R. L. Spence, DFM, of Highgate, Ont., and Flt. Lt. B. L. Schauenberg, DFM, of Verdun, Quebec.

By Staging Route

Former Bomber Pilots Fly Urgent Freight to Far North

A few months ago they were carrying huge loads of bombs to Germany in Lancasters and Halifaxes of RCAF bomber squadrons overseas. Now they fly urgent freight and air force officials along the 1,100 mile North West Staging Route between Edmonton and the Yukon's Whitehorse. They are the men of the heavy transport squadron attached to North West Air Command here. About 80 per cent of them are ex-operational aircrew; the rest of them consider themselves "not so lucky" but are experienced transport pilots with upwards of a "thousand hours flying to their credit."

For these men, rehabilitation hopes are bright since the squadron operates strictly on an air line basis. Some of its former members have already left the RCAF to take positions with civil air line companies. Others have "graduated" to the RCAF mail squadron, flying four-engine Liberators of Fortresses with letters for Canadian fighting forces scattered throughout the world.

Among the repatriated pilots with the squadron are FO, W. K. Mc Bain, 11068 107 street, who completed two tours of operations with the famed Moose Squadron of the RCAF Bomber Group; FO, E. R. "Ted" Wilson, Suite 11, Credit Arcade Building, who was also with the Moose Squadron of the RCAF overseas; and PO, Thomas Tackaberry, of 11442 96 street, who served in Africa as a fighter pilot, and with RAF Ferry Command.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

There is little difference between the squadron's flying procedure and that of a commercial air line. Douglas twin-engine C-47 transports—modified versions of the famed DC3 air liner—form the squadron's complement of aircraft. Pilots are advised to watch passenger comfort and are limited in their rate of climb and descent. Aircraft must fly at odd altitudes going north, even altitudes going south, thus putting a thousand feet between passing ships. Aircraft, once airborne, are in constant communication with their base and their course is plotted on a wall map of the staging route at the headquarters in Edmonton. Since the detachment began flying the route eighteen months ago, they have had a hundred per cent safety record, neither losing a passenger or damaging an aircraft. Their first flight cancellation for any reason came last October when impossible flying weather was encountered.

At 8:30 a.m., every morning except Sunday, a Douglas takes off on the long haul to Whitehorse, stopping at Grande Prairie, Fort St. John, Fort Nelson, Watson Lake and finally arriving at Whitehorse in the late afternoon. At 7:30 a.m., Yukon time, another Douglas takes off from Whitehorse to Edmonton. Besides this schedule run, many special runs are made, often carrying them as far north as Norman Wells, sixty miles outside the Arctic Circle.

Since the squadron began operating along the route in June, 1943, they have flown more than one and three-quarter million miles, carried 20,150 passengers and nearly 6½ million pounds of freight.

The aircraft are manned by a four man crew, consisting of pilot, co-pilot, wireless operator and crew man. Between flights, crews can usually be found in the dispatcher's office, one entire wall of which is taken up with a map of the North West Staging Route. Dotting the course are silhouettes of the Douglas as they make their way up and down the route. A teletype machine in a corner clusters out the latest weather reports. In the next room is heard the jargon of the radio operators in communication with a Douglas making its way over the rugged mountains into Whitehorse.

QUICK TO PRAISE—The fliers are quick to praise the work of the maintenance crews—boys who work mostly at night to keep the aircraft serviceable during the day. On occasions they have worked 24 hours without a break to get a Douglas "on the line" at 8:30 in the morning. The maintenance crews are proud of their record of efficiency and rightly so, for not once has the detachment had to cancel a flight because of aircraft unserviceability. They, too, feel that they have a place in the future of Canada's post-war air program.

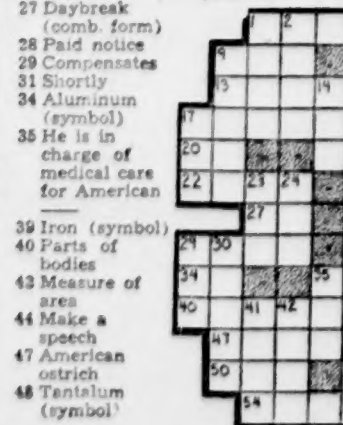

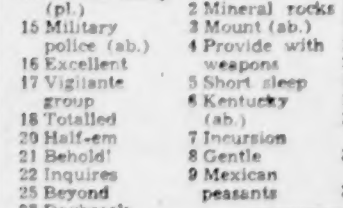

Traffic dispatcher with the squadron is Flt. Lt. J. S. Cheston, of 10739 86 avenue. Some of the maintenance men are LAC S. R. MacLean 9206 65 street; LAC J. G. Pollard, 15415 Stony Plain Road; LAC E. E.

Page, Edison; and Cpl. J. E. Walker, Provost; LAC R. H. Garries, Bentley; Spt. O. A. Reynard; LAC J. A. Nelson, Monitor; and LAC Michael Oros, Athabasca.

Says Opposition Parties Caused Recruit Trouble

"The men would have come forward and our recruitment problem would have been solved."

However, the minister added as he outlined his position for voters in the Feb. 5 by-election where he is opposed by both Progressive Conservative and CCF candidates, there was a time element to be considered.

ASKED COMPULSION

And, when he saw that the appeals, because of the opposition put forward, were not going to succeed, he asked the government for some powers of compulsion.

"I asked that the whole NRMA be made subject to compulsion and that 16,000 as a first quota be made available to reinforce the men overseas."

At the same time it had been realized a number would go absent without leave after being warned for overseas service but the minister said the 6,300 men in the first overseas-bound group who failed to report after pre-embarkation leave were about in the number foreseen "when the movement was planned."

"I hope," said Gen. McNaughton, "that this has awakened the people to realize what we are dealing with when we are dealing with NRMA men."

PROGRAM ADVANCED

Now, with arrival in Britain of an overseas draft of 8,300 NRMA men previously planned reinforcements, "our program is not only up to date but is a slight amount ahead of plans."

Gen. McNaughton said he had placed himself "four-square behind the King government because its policy in the army was in my judgment the only one which would give the result I sought."

Few people realized that the home defence troops in Canada had arms in their hands and that they were trained bodies. There were few trained active service men available to enforce obedience.

However, the hard core of men who had caused the trouble among the home defence troops now were fugitives from justice.

Any NRMA man who, after being warned for overseas service, overstayed his leave for more than 21 days would be classed as a deserter and dealt with accordingly.

"There comes a time when we have to show them who is boss and that time has come," he said.

MOVING INTO CAPTURED POSITIONS—These Canadians in armoured 15-cwts. roll along a dyke area just taken over by Canadian assault troops. These vehicles, just off the secret list, are all Oshawa-built by GM.

Voluntary enlistments now were good and compulsion would be used to make up for any deficiency in overseas army manpower requirements.

"I assumed the responsibility of minister of national defence not as a politician, not with a desire to become attached to any political party, but with the one thought of serving my country at the most critical time in the war and at a most serious period in the present and future welfare of the Canadian people," he said.

TEMPORARY SEAT

Gen. McNaughton stressed the point that if elected, he would not be sitting member of Grey North for long. He said he only asked support of Grey North electors so that he might have a seat in parliament for a "few short weeks at longest, in order that I may, for the good of the people of Canada and for the benefit of all parties in the House, be able to discharge my duty and obligations as defence minister in the proper place and for the greatest possible assistance to our war effort."

In a statement, believed to have been directed in reply to assertions by his election opponents, he said he had been accused of leaving the Canadian Army.

"I must forcibly resent that statement from anyone, it is neither justifiable nor fair," he said. "After a week's absence from the campaign field during which time the defence minister was kept in Ottawa by administrative duties, Gen. McNaughton arrived here yesterday after he and Postmaster-General W. P. Mulock inspected infantry and armored corps ranges at the Meaford Army Training Centre."

He appealed for support on a non-political basis "in the interests of all," and claimed it was in the interest of Canada and would enable him to provide reinforcements and co-ordinate every branch of the department for the greatest efficiency.

DOUBTS LEADERSHIP OF PREMIER KING

THORNHURST, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Grey North by-election of Feb. 5, said last night that if Prime Minister Mackenzie King was a robust leader he would not be afraid to have his candidate stand or fall on the basis of the government's war record.

In a speech in this town 35 miles east of Owen Sound, Mr. Case said that "if Mr. King was a robust leader as I would wish him to be, he would frankly state that he has had no mandate from the people since 1940."

Referring to an Ottawa statement yesterday in which Mr. King hinted that another session of the present parliament might not be held if the Progressive Conservatives and CCF were determined to persist in the present attitudes, Mr. Case said he would remain in the contest to the finish.

NEW SESSION UNCERTAIN

The adjourned session of parliament is to be prorogued Jan. 31, but date of the start of a new session, if one is held, has not been set.

Mr. Case said he knew of the case of a 19-year-old Owen Sound boy who was called up last July and who arrived overseas with the recent draft of home defence troops. This occurred despite the fact that "thousands" of trained men were still in Canada.

Under the government's "muddled" manpower policy "the provinces willing to spare the men were being bled white while another province was shirking its responsibility."

Mr. Case said he wanted to know if it was true that in 1937 and 1938 Air Marshal Godfrey received $400 a month from the Parmeter-Bullock company at Gananoque, Ont., while serving as officer commanding the airport at Trenton, Ont.

Air Marshal Godfrey was depicting himself during the campaign as the friend of labor. Mr. Case asked if it was true that, as an official of the Parmeter-Bullock company, Air Marshal Godfrey had dismissed a man with 55 years service.

"Is it not true that after this employee had filed a list of questions with the local members, to be asked on the floor of the House, that you conciliated on the basis that after this certain employee dropped all action, you would grant him a magnificent sum of three months salary, which rather than go to court, the employee agreed to?"

STAND OF PREMIER HELD RESPONSIBLE

WOODFORD, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's stubborn refusal to budge on the conscription issue is solely responsible for the whole chain of circumstances leading to the Grey North by-election Feb. 5, J. W. Noseworthy, CCF member of parliament for York South, said last night.

"Mr. King can blame no one but himself and his own advisers for the predicament in which he finds himself," said Mr. Noseworthy in a speech here and at Sunny Valley, Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, CCF, candidate in the by-election, who was prevented by a cold from addressing political rallies Monday, was still confined to his room yesterday.

Had Mr. King listened to Col. J. L. Ralston there would have been no need to find a seat for a new minister. Col. Ralston resigned when the government would not conscript home defence troops for overseas service, said Mr. Noseworthy.

DECLARES CANADA WANTS 'NEW DEAL'
THORNHURST, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—Canada wants a "new deal in manpower policy—in place of the present law which is differently enforced in different provinces and differently interpreted even within some provinces," John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for the Saskatchewan constituency of Lake Centre, said last night.

"Is it fair that while in the eight provinces the average enlistment of the men between 18 and 42 years of age is 42 per cent, that in Quebec it is 22.1 per cent?" said Mr. Diefenbaker in a speech here. He spoke in support of W. Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Grey North by-election Feb. 5.

"Is it fair that even today the call-up is 2½ times higher in proportion to the available manpower in some military districts than it is in Quebec?" asked Mr. Diefenbaker.

2 City Youths Are Arrested on Theft Charges

Two Edmonton youths, forced to stop the car they were operating when a police patrol car moved in front of them, about 3:40 a.m. Wednesday, were placed under arrest on four charges of breaking and entering, and one of theft of auto.

The two youths were reportedly driving away from the Eastwood Service station, Fort Road and 120 avenue, into which, according to city police, they had forced an entry, when Constables James Mulcahy and S. L. Edmunds came along. Just an hour earlier it was found that the Borden Park Service station had been entered.

The youths, 16 and 17 years old respectively, admitted having broken into the Eastwood Service Station but said they had stolen nothing there. At the Borden Park premises they took $6.95 in silver and coppers, police said.

MAKE ADMISSION

They also admitted, according to police, having entered the Excel Service Station, 108 street and Whyte avenue, where they found an auto stored. Wheeling it out, they drove to St. Albert, where they are said to have broken into the office of J. J. Bourgeois, livestock dealer, and removed postage stamps to the value of $8.93.

Taken to police headquarters, the boys were searched, the 16-year-old youth's pockets yielding $34, and the other, $6.62. The money, they declared, belonged to them.

PRY HASP LOOSE

Entry into the Borden Park Service Station was affected by prying the hasp from the front door, police stated. The premises were thoroughly ransacked, the contents of a cash drawer under a counter being strewn about the floor. Money taken from there was located in the car. A quantity of burglar tools were also found in the vehicle, it was stated.

The two youths are being held in the South Side lock-up, while police investigations are continuing.

Police Inquiry Is Halted Again

Inquiry by city police officials into charges of breach of the city police discipline code, against a police sergeant and a constable, has been postponed for a third time due to the injuries of the latter officer, Chief Constable Reg. Jennings stated Wednesday.

The officers, Sgt. Percy Appleby and Constable Arthur Johnson, are at present under suspension from duty, following an alleged fracas at headquarters last Dec. 25, at which time Constable Johnson received injuries necessitating hospital treatment.

Speeders Should Have Good Brakes

Every now and again someone in a hurry cuts loose at 30 or more on our slippery streets at the risk of turning his car into a heap of junk and causing injury to the driver as well as anyone else who might be in the way. Of course if nothing happens it's all to the good. But is that much speed and risk required? Drive safely!

Kiwanis Club Plans Observe Anniversary

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Edmonton will observe the 30th Anniversary of Kiwanis International on Monday, January 29, with a program based on the service organization's 1945 administrative theme, "Win the War—Build for Peace."

Thornton Graham, recently elected president of the Edmonton club, said today that plans for the anniversary meeting, to be held at noon on Monday, Jan. 29, at the Macdonald hotel, had been virtually completed. Outstanding features will include the reading of a message from Ben Dean, Grand Rapids, president of Kiwanis International. The speaker for the day will be Guy H. Van de Bogart, president of Northern Montana College, Havre, Montana. Mr. Bogart is a trustee of Kiwanis International and one of the outstanding speakers in Kiwanis.

BORN IN DETROIT

Recalling that Kiwanis was born in Detroit on the eve of World War I, Thornton Graham said the organization, since the commencement of World War II, has supplemented its community service activities with projects which contribute directly to the conduct of the United Nations' war program.

He revealed that last year 139,000 Kiwanians in some 2,250 clubs throughout Canada and the United States bought and sold war bonds valued at more than $1,000,000,000. They also donated 55,000 pints of blood, purchased millions of cigarettes for soldiers overseas, established cafeterias and entertainment centres, and kept in direct touch with upwards of 2,000,000 servicemen and women, either by letter or by sending them hometown newspapers.

Eleven men attended the meeting which created Kiwanis during the winter of 1915. Its membership since that time has increased by leaps and bounds, especially in the past year. More than 13,000 Kiwanians are in the armed forces. Mr. Graham said that plans for the anniversary meeting were being directed by the Education Committee of the Edmonton club, which committee consists of Andrew Whyte, chairman, Gus Gottfried and J. A. King.

Scottish History Related to Club

The romantic history of Scotland as seen through the medium of Robert Burns, Scottish bard, was the subject of an address Tuesday evening by T. H. Campbell at a meeting in the YMCA dining hall of the Y's Men's Club.

Introduced by Harold Sprague, Mr. Campbell illustrated his address with typical examples of Burns' poetry, and spoke of the poet's love of nature and people. He was thanked, on behalf of the club, by Max Dewar.

The president, John Denison, was chairman. Next meeting will be held Tuesday evening in the YMCA building.

Fourth Count

Robert A. Watson of Edmonton, who pleaded guilty before Mr. Justice H. H. Parlee in supreme court Monday, to three charges of forging and uttering, was remanded Wednesday by Magistrate L. B. Jackson for trial on a fourth count, of forgery. The case will be heard in supreme court Friday of this week.

Good Response Is Reported on Clothing Drive

Response of Edmontonians to the Red Cross Aid to Russia depot appeal indicates that this city's part in the drive will be an outstanding success, according to Red Cross officials. The depot is located at 9925 Jasper avenue. Many large packages of clothing have been received to date.

The clothing for the Russian drive, which opened Monday, will continue until the end of February. It is being carried out by the Edmonton branch of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Council in conjunction with the clothing division of the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund which is sponsoring a Dominion-wide campaign.

Although the majority of parcels received to date came from Edmontonians, a considerable donation was received from district residents who used facilities provided by trucking companies volunteering to bring parcels to the Edmonton clothing depot. Canadian Freightways, serving Red Deer, Ponoka and Lacombe, and M. Ineson and Sons, serving the Gunn and Rich Valley areas, have been added to the list of trucking concerns assisting the drive.

AMONG PARCELS

Among parcels received to date was one containing nine pairs of men's heavy working trousers from Rimbey. Another contained four woolen blankets, an elderdown, a number of men's shirts, socks and scarves. They were received by Mrs. Roy Harrison, adjutant of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Red Cross corps, and volunteer workers at the clothing depot.

Seven warm patchwork quilts, men's and women's shoes in excellent condition, mackinaws, men's and women's heavy winter coats, suits and underwear and dressing gowns were among other donations.

Robert Muir, secretary-manager of the Edmonton Red Cross, emphasized that all clothing donated should be clean, serviceable and warm. "Clothing must be clean since no provision has been made for cleaning any of the garments received," he stated. Mr. Muir anticipated no difficulty in attaining the drive objective of at least one garment from every home.

Power Production Up Over Year Ago

Power production for city use at Edmonton's power plant for the period Jan. 1 to Jan. 21, 1945 totaled 7,576,300 kilowatt hours compared with 7,321,600 for the same period last year, an increase of 254,700 kilowatt hours, according to a statement filed with the city commissioners Wednesday by Robert G. Watson, power superintendent.

Of the 1945 period production 6,242,600 was taken by the electric light department compared with 6,049,800 kilowatt hours during the 1944 period; 862,900 kilowatt hours was consumed by the street railway department against 791,100, and 470,800 by the pumping station compared with 480,700 kilowatt hours for the 1944 period.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

The 10th Imperial Frontiersmen's Battalion will parade at City Headquarters at 20:30 hours Wednesday for continuation of training. Dress: Mufti.

Col. Harry Snider, former Montreal business man and now ranching at Sundre, Alberta, was a business visitor in Edmonton Tuesday. He left Wednesday morning for his ranch.

J. M. Breen, Montreal, chief of the technical staff, Canada Cement Co., Ltd., arrived in Edmonton Wednesday in the course of a routine business trip. He is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

Alberta Quayle, Lyndberg district resident, was found not guilty in supreme court Wednesday by Mr. Justice H. H. Parlee on an indecent assault charge. He was defended by R. Fred Jackson, Edmonton, and W. G. Fuller, St. Paul.

Cecil R. "Tiny" Thompson, Calgary, former National Hockey League goalkeeper, arrived in Edmonton Wednesday and is registered at the Macdonald hotel. Mr. Thompson is now a talent scout in Western Canada for the Chicago Black Hawks. He played goal for Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings.

P.O. Gordon E. Chamney, of Provost, 24-year-old wireless operator, has completed 45 operational trips with an RCAF Sunderland flying boat squadron during his three years overseas. "Will be glad to get back to work in the grocery store which my father, Stewart Chamney, and I own and will operate together," said young Chamney who has just returned to Canada.

To Probe Death Of Aged Farmer

A coroner's jury will inquire into the death of 67-year-old Frank Warner, Clover Bar district farm worker, on Tuesday, Jan. 30, coroner's officer William McDonald, stated Wednesday. The aged man was struck by an auto near Hope Mission, 101 street, one week ago. He had come to the city only a few days before for treatment for frostbite.

City Telephone Department Shows Revenue Increase During Last Year

ROBERT CHRISTIE

Revenue of the city telephone department, less discounts and bad debts for the year 1944 amounted to $867,688 compared with $826,297.29 in 1943, an increase of $41,390.71, according to an interim statement submitted Wednesday to the city commissioners by Robert Christie, superintendent of the system.

Expenditures in 1944 amounted to $276,462, compared with $261,987.52 in 1943, an increase of $14,474.26 to leave a surplus on operation of $591,226 for 1944 compared with $564,309.65 for the year previous.

DISCOUNTS

Discounts and bad debts during 1944 amounted to $32,750 compared with $31,700 in 1943.

Revenue from taxes and net surpluses paid to the city during 1944 amounted to $283,293 compared with $291,950, the year previous, a decrease of $8,657. The amount set aside in renewal reserve account in 1944 was $188,322 compared with $153,533 the year previous, an increase of $34,789.

Capital charges paid in 1944 totaled $117,680 compared with $118,825.80 the year previous, while the surplus on operation in 1944 was $134,950 against $170,000 in 1943. Taxes paid in 1944 amounted to $150,253 compared with $121,950 in the year previous.

Expenditures from the renewal account in 1944 amounted to only $19,122 compared with $133,333.04 in 1943.

The amount paid in to the city treasury from taxes and net surpluses was $22,236 in excess of the estimated $262,967 expected when the city's estimates were being considered last March.

More Waste Paper Is Required Here

Estimation that Canada is 50 per cent short in the amount of waste paper required in the national salvage drive was made Wednesday by Edward C. Fisher, national salvage organizer. He pointed out that a great need for paper is felt in various war industries.

He commended Edmontonians for their response to the waste paper appeal. Several carloads are being shipped from here every month. Receiving depots are located at Ponoka, Lacombe, Stettler, Camrose, Daysland and Lloydminster.

Committees in various villages and towns are urged to contact their nearest salvage receiving depot to make individual arrangements for co-operation in shipment of carloads of paper at an early date. It is expected that receiving stations will be organized soon in points east of Edmonton.

THE QUESTION
Do you think the Dominion government should take over part cost of education in Canada, or should education remain sole responsibility of the provinces?

THE ANSWERS
MILTON EDWARDS, farmer: I think this is a very poor time to stir up agitation on the cost of education problem. It is a serious question and will be the subject of long study before any changes are made. Let's win the war first, and leave these Dominion-provincial questions until later.

D. J. MATTHEW, farmer: Education costs are among heaviest now carried by the province. I think they properly should be shared by the federal government, but the matter of education control would then enter into the problem.

BOB MONKMAN, salesman: Education should be retained in provincial control, no matter what the cost. If we let the senior government begin paying the cost, they will begin telling us what we are to teach and what we are not to teach. We are closer to the provincial authorities than we are to the Dominion, and let's have things stay that way.

Patient Escapes

RCMP were informed, Tuesday, of the escape from Oliver of a 35-year-old man, weighing 150 pounds. Five feet 10 inches tall, he was described as having sandy hair, blue eyes, and was wearing a plaid mackinaw, blue overalls, long, dark socks and rubbers.

Air Force Officer Is Visiting City

Air Vice-Marshal K. G. Nairn, Ottawa, president, Royal Canadian Air Force Benevolent Fund, conferred Tuesday with James Walker, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and chairman of the provincial branch of the fund, on present and post-war operations in Alberta.

He said that the fund had been created to give educational and other assistance to past and present personnel of the RCAF and dependents, and it was supported by voluntary subscriptions from members of the RCAF and from other sources.

He left Wednesday morning for Regina.

Many Businesses Seeking Space

Two Dominion government departments and numerous city commercial interests are seeking space in the Edmonton Motors building, recently acquired by the city. Commissioner John Hodgson stated Wednesday.

He intimated also that consideration was being given to placing some of the civic services in this building to relieve the congestion at the Civic Block.

Disposition of the space in the building will be made likely by the end of this week, he said.

Church Reports Successful Year

Steady progress in all departments of the church was the keynote of reports heard at the annual meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Tuesday evening. J. Scott presided and J. Brodie was named congregational secretary.

Financial report showed the last year as being the most successful in the history of the church. Now a self-supporting congregation, St. Andrew's for 30 years received grants from the mission board. Under the leadership of the Rev. H. Douglas Stewart these grants are no longer necessary for the maintenance of church affairs.

The meeting expressed the opinion that the independence of the church was due to the efforts of the minister.

O. L. Dempsey was re-elected church treasurer. The following members were appointed to fill vacancies on the board of managers: Mrs. G. W. Wilson, J. Brodie, H. Illingsworth, D. MacPherson, R. C. Garvie and W. Noble.

500 Delegates At Convention

With over 500 registered delegates in attendance, the Alberta Farmers' Union convention now sitting at the Masonic Temple is the largest held here in several years.

More than 400 delegates had registered by noon Tuesday, opening day of the convention. By 5 p.m. the same day, over 100 more had presented credentials, and others still were expected.

Convention officials were forced to put in a rush call for delegates' ribbons, the supply ordered being exhausted as the flood of delegates completed registration.

Union officials state increasing size of the organization and mild weather are responsible for the huge turnout. Clear roads and favorable conditions for livestock have allowed many farmers time off to attend the three-day convention.

Seven Albertans Win Promotion

Promotion of seven Alberta soldiers serving with the Canadian Army overseas was announced Wednesday by National Defence headquarters at Ottawa.

Capt. Eric E. Whelan of 117 Seventh avenue N.W., has been promoted to the rank of major and Lieut. Robert J. Downie of 2321 Westmount Blvd. has been promoted to the rank of captain.

Five soldiers received their first appointments as lieutenants. They were: William Arthur Lear of Camrose, RSM Charles R. Rankin, 510 Second street N.E., Calgary; Sgt. John Frederick Armstrong, Eskine; Sgt. William R. Broadfoot, Bassano; Sgt. Charles A. Sim, Red Deer.

Pensioner Dies Of Heart Trouble

Joseph Francis, about 80 years old, of Room 54 Aster House, 103A avenue, was found dead in his room about 11 a.m. Wednesday, according to city police. Death was attributed to heart failure.

Mr. Francis, an old age pensioner, had been living in the same room for the last seven years. Until his body was found Wednesday, he had not been seen for more than 24 hours. It was stated. While he had no relatives in Canada, it was believed he had some in England.

Many Attend Service Civil, Military Dignitaries at Funeral Maj.-Gen. Griesbach

Edmonton bade farewell to "Billy" Griesbach Wednesday afternoon. A large throng, among which were the highest civil and military dignitaries, attended funeral services in All Saints' Cathedral in a final salute to one of Canada's outstanding soldiers and statesmen.

Officially it was an impressive religious and military spectacle. But to thousands of his fellow citizens and fellow soldiers it was a deeply sorrowful farewell to a good citizen and good comrade.

Dean A. M. Trendell of All Saints Cathedral, who conducted the funeral service in the old cathedral where Maj. Gen. Hon. W. A. Griesbach, CB, CMG, DSO, VD, had long been a regular and faithful communicant, paid a simple but eloquent tribute to the great soldier and citizen of whom Edmontonians were greatly proud.

"General Griesbach was always considerate of the men under his command. He would never command them to do something which he was not prepared to do himself. This is the mark of the leader and also the mark of the true Christian," Dean Trendell said.

His willingness at all times to help all who were deserving of assistance was another great Christian trait in the character of the great Edmonton soldier, the dean said.

MILITARY ESCORT

Following the service in the cathedral, the coffin, covered by the Union Jack, was carried on the shoulders of eight army warrant officers to a gun carriage at the door of the church. An impressive military escort headed by a platoon of the Veterans' Guard of Canada then moved toward Jasper Avenue, west to 116 street and north to the Edmonton cemetery, where final honors were paid, at the grave.

As the procession moved off at slow march from the cathedral the band of the 2nd (Reserve) Bn., The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, played Handel's Dead March in Saul softly. Behind the gun limber heaving the coffin was the general's charger, his boots hanging from the saddle in reverse.

Sgt. Maj. V. O. Oliver MM, who served in the 49th Bn., CEF, in the First Great War, walked beside the gun carriage bearing the medals and insignia of the dead officer.

A platoon of the Veterans' Guard of Canada from Camrose served as escort for the coffin marching with arms reversed.

Next followed two platoons of the CWAC under the command of Capt. Gerda Forsland.

A firing party from No. 13 VTC here came next.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Fault-Finding Man
Same After Marriage

Woman Should Realize That a Man Who Is Finding Fault Before Marriage, Will Not Change
After the Ceremony

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a fine young man whom I love very much. But every time he comes to see me, he "picks on me" about something. I never seem able to please him, although I try my best to do so. Sometimes he compares me to other girls and holds them up to me as an example.

I get very tired of these lectures and I am wondering, if he is this way now, how he will be after we are married.

ANSWER: The critical lover inevitably will make the fault-finding husband who will consider it his sacred duty to keep you reminded continually of your shortcomings and never mention your virtues to you. He will gobble down 999 perfect dinners without ever mentioning their excellence, but if the bread happens to be a little heavy, or the thousandth one, he will wonder why it is you never learn to cook.

He will never notice how you scrimp and pare and save, but if ever you indulge in one extravagance, it will be thrown up to you to your dying day. You may stick at home as close as the house cat, but if you are once late for dinner, he will wonder why you don't look as well dressed as Mrs. Smith, but he won't give you a decent clothes allowance.

The average woman's world is bounded by the walls of her home. If she has any peace or happiness in life, she must find them there. Her career is wifehood and motherhood, her reward for all her efforts is her husband's praise and appreciation. If it is his approbation, his love, his admiration that makes all that she does worth while. If she gets that, she wins her crown of glory. If she fails to receive it and gets only criticism and blame, she has nothing.

That is why the fault-finding husband is one of the worst husbands in the world and why I advise you, with all the earnestness of which I am capable, not to marry a critical man who, even before marriage, has shown you that all you get will be knocks. No matter what other virtues he has, this one quality offsets them all and you will be perfectly miserable with him. Nor will you love him long. Nagging will kill any affection and make you come to hate him and dread his approach.

You have had your warning. Profit by it. Don't marry a fault-finder.

OPPOSITES

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Why is it that the prettiest women often choose the ugliest men for husbands, and why is it that handsome men are often attracted by homely women?

ANSWER: Women choose homely men for husbands because they have enough sense to know that they are the best husband material. And, anyway, women take little stock in a man's looks beyond wanting him to be manly-looking and clean and well-groomed. A slouchy, sloppy, untidy man is repulsive to a woman.

If a man is intelligent, entertaining, understanding and sympathetic and has personal charm, it does not matter to a woman if he is bald-headed and bay-windowed. Besides, women like to be admired rather than do the admiring. They want to monopolize the good looks in the family. Also, women don't want to marry a handsome man because they don't always want to be chaperoning him and keeping him out of flirtations.

When a handsome man marries a homely woman, it is because he falls in love with her soul instead of her face, and because the exterior and interests amuses him. Or because he thinks he can supply enough beauty for the family.

DOROTHY DIX.

SELFISHNESS
DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have an only daughter to whom I am utterly devoted. I will not allow her to go out with boys because I am afraid that if I do that, she will fall in love, marry and leave me. I feel like I am stealing her youth from her, but the fear of losing her keeps me from giving her any liberty.

A MOTHER IN DESPAIR.
ANSWER: It isn't love for your daughter that makes you shut her away from all the natural pleasures of her time of life for fear of losing her. It is selfishness. It is yourself you love, not her. If you really loved her, you would put her happiness and good before your own. You would sacrifice yourself to her. You would not offer her up on the altar of your own ego.

In keeping your daughter away from men for fear she will fall in love and marry will gain you nothing. She will do so, anyway, and probably the quicker in order to get away from her jailer.

Now that several of our outstanding experts are in England, they are getting a chance to compete with the English players and Dr. Stern tells me that the standard of play today is much better than it was a few years ago. Today's hand, which was played by Adm. Meredith, is a nice sample of a beautiful coup.

You win the opening diamond lead, lead a trump to the queen, ruff the four of clubs, another heart to the ace, ruff the seven of clubs, and at this point, you must lead the five of spades and finesse dummy's eight spot. Now you ruff a diamond. This leaves you with the king and ten of trump so you go over to the dummy with the queen of spades and now lead the ace, king and queen of clubs. If East ruffs, you over ruff. If he doesn't, you discard all your spades, then play a diamond. East must ruff. You over ruff with the ten and pick up his jack with the king. Dr. Stern did point out that if West had jumped in with the nine of spades, he would have killed one of the declarer's much needed entries into dummy.

CHILDREN IN THEIR TEENS

Probably because the practice of giving infants a daily ration of vitamin D is now almost universal, there is a prevalent belief that calcium deficiency occurs mainly in infants. The purpose of giving vitamin D is of course to promote assimilation and utilization of calcium.

Probably because rickets, a nutritional deficiency disease due to lack of sufficient calcium (and phosphorus) and vitamin D, is usually most manifest between the sixth and eighteenth months, a good many physicians still think it is all right for a child past a year or 1½ years of age to worry along without the daily ration of vitamin D.

Fortunately a considerable number of children of pre-school and school age do get along very well without taking vitamin D at all—if they happen to enjoy a reasonable amount of exposure of skin to sunshine or skyshine. The ultraviolet in sunlight activates ergosterol in the skin, converting it into vitamin D. So the more clothing and the more time spent indoors the greater the individual's requirement for vitamin D.

According to Spies and Butt ("Diseases of Metabolism," Duncan, '42) "about 75 per cent of rickets escapes diagnosis" and this sad state of affairs is due largely to the faulty conception of rickets which some physicians have—"their diagnostic threshold is reached only by the square-headed, pot-bellied baby with delayed teething and walking"—and I, Brady, might add that these old-time practitioners do far too much post-mortem squawking about "the vitamin lack" to cover their diagnostic incompetency.

Deficient assimilation and utilization of phosphorus as well as calcium and vitamin D accounts for rickets. As phosphorus occurs in most foods in combination with calcium, it is seldom necessary to be concerned about the phosphorus intake provided there is adequate calcium supply, assimilation and utilization.

Rickets is not merely a disease, weakness, softness of bones, spine and teeth; it is disease also of the ligaments, muscles glands, teeth, digestive organs.

In a great many instances of protracted feet or weak ankles and potential flatfoot in growing children undiagnosed rickets is responsible. In many cases of spinal curvature, round shoulders, fatigue posture in children in their teens, undiagnosed rickets is responsible.

Few physicians diagnose rickets in the mild degree it usually occurs in growing children and youths. But never mind that. I say supplement the diet of every growing child with a suitable daily ration of calcium, phosphorus and vitamin D and prevent any and all of these manifestations of rickets. From what I have observed in the past fourteen years, I believe this practice insures for these growing children exceptionally good teeth, notably free from caries.

YOUR BABY
And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED
I am always happy to pass on words of encouragement about babies who are very tiny at birth. Their slower growth is so often upsetting and discouraging to parents who would see them leap along in step with children who were the ordinary weights of 6 to 8 pounds at birth.

Mrs. D. E. K. has full term, twin babies who weighed only 2 pounds 6 ounces and 2 pounds 2 ounces at birth. "They stayed in the hospital for six weeks," she writes, "and when I took them home they only weighed 4 pounds 2 ounces and 3 pounds 14 ounces. They came home with high temperatures and bloody noses, all in all quite sick."

"Their long stay in the hospital had cost us so much money that we were flat broke and couldn't even afford a nurse. Nor could we move into more commodious quarters."

"Yet, at 8 months of age they both sat alone and suddenly two teeth were seen. Now at one year (almost) they walk around their playpen, they say a few words and understand many things that are said to them. They each have five teeth."

"The biggest one at birth now weighs 16 pounds and over, and measures 28½ inches, the other 15 pounds and 27½ inches. They have had small-pox vaccinations and all other necessary immunizations. Our doctor thinks they are getting along fine and thought their case would make a very interesting story."

I am sure other mothers of tiny babies would have been interested to know your formulas for them—as I would have been—and whether they are now eating as other, well-cared-for year-old babies do at one year of age. That would have completed the picture for us.

It is also heartening to mothers of tiny babies to know that in a year or so their development can be so nearly normal, with every hope that within another year or two they will have caught up with babies whose birth weight was so much more of an advantage to them.

May I say, since you omitted to state that it is wise to feed tiny babies according to their weight rather than their age? To feed them otherwise might be too great a strain on their feeble digestions. With this in mind, the ordinary feeding charts can be useful for the under-weights.

Our leaflet on, "The First Six Weeks" contains information of value to the mothers of premature. It may be had, by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

All People's Mission Holds
Annual Meeting

Under the chairmanship of Ken Wilson, chairman of the board, representatives from the five centres served by All Peoples' Mission, Buchanan, Beverly, Forest Heights, Bissell Memorial and an area on 56th street, north of Alberta Avenue, gathered at Bissell on Friday last in the annual meeting.

Reports were presented by CGIT groups, which represent altogether nearly 100 girls, and they reported the sum of $144 forwarded to Madame Chiang Kai Chek's Orphan Fund, Milk-for-Britain Fund, British War Orphans, and a small amount to church funds. Douglas Carr reporting for boys' work showed an active membership of slightly more than 200 boys in the four centres, all carrying on a complete program successfully. Two boys, James Speakman and Glen Birnie represented the mission in the boys parliament. The mission raises its own leadership in this area of work. It has no outside help.

HAVE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Sunday Schools function at all centres, serving over 500 children on the active list. Women's associations report the best year in their history, with more than $600 raised. Many needy causes have been assisted by all the organizations, notably in the war workers' section.

Junior choirs, baby bands, and many other organizations reported progress. Goodwill industries at Bissell have had a good year, serving a great number of women weekly, as well as taking care of hundreds of needy families throughout the year. Thanks were extended to the many people who have generously kept the industries well supplied with goods throughout the year. The superintendent has, as usual, done all the collecting.

The women workers, Misses George and E. Hickerson, report a busy year, with well over 1,000 visits in addition to their many leadership duties. Mrs. J. T. Stephens reported $300 for missions, an increase of over $40 for the year.

MANY AT CAMP
The Fresh Air Camp report showed that more than 300 persons were taken to Moonlight Bay Camp this summer, also that a Hospital Hut was built by the boys while in camp. The cottage at Alberta Beach was also used by needy families. In his report as Superintendent the Rev. J. T. Stephens reported 5 members received on profession of faith, 30 baptisms, 13 funerals, 8 members from the Honor Rolls have made the supreme sacrifice this year. Vacation Schools were held at all centres, also in-the-city-camps at Bissell. Christmas hampers, and gifts to wives of men overseas, numbered over 200.

Eight Christmas Trees, with gifts for 800 children, as well as a Christmas dinner for elderly people, were part of a heavy Christmas program. Regular services have been held weekly at all centres, and Ukrainian and Japanese services have also been held steadily.

Kindergarten classes have been held regularly at Bissell, and the facilities of the building at Bissell are available always to Jewish, Czech-Slovakian, Chinese, Japanese, Ukrainian, and other groups, who use it steadily.

Edmonton Presbytery is to be asked to sanction a grant for the removal and remodeling of the church at Beverly, for which lots have been secured on Alberta avenue, thanks to the administrator, N. Rushton.

A hut is being obtained for work on 56th street north of Alberta avenue which Mr. Stephens has served for more than a year.

The superintendent reported church gifts from very many churches, near and far, and expressed appreciation for them. Hundreds of persons have obtained employment through the mission's employment department, and in the realms of recreation, sport, education, the mission stands in the forefront.

Miss E. Hickerson, one of the staff members is taking an enforced rest so that the staff now consists of the superintendent, the Rev. J. T. Stephens, Miss M. George, and Douglas Carr, B.A. (part time).

That such an extensive program is carried on incessantly speaks volumes for the volunteer workers to whom the board and mission is indeed grateful.

Refreshments were served by the mission women.

School Health
Report Shows
Parents Help

Parents of Edmonton school children are showing a sustained and growing interest in the physical examinations given in the schools, Dr. G. E. Swallow, medical inspector of schools, reported at the regular meeting of the Edmonton Public School Board Tuesday night.

In a summary of the yearly report for 1944 the inspector stated that more than 76 per cent of the parents were present at physical examinations as compared with 75 per cent in 1940 and 60 per cent in 1930.

Dr. Swallow also pointed out to trustees the greater importance of complete physicals in comparison to the medical examinations. Of the 3,732 pupils who received complete checks, 1,412 or 37 per cent were found with defects. Where medicals only were given, 8,342 children were inspected and only 24 per cent were found with defects.

GOOD CO-OPERATION

An indication of improved economic conditions and co-operation from the parents is found in comparative numbers of cases treated by the family doctor, Dr. Swallow said. In 1930, 1,187 children got treatment from their own doctors and in 1944 that figure had grown to 2,403.

During the autumn campaign against smallpox, 2,848 children were vaccinated and in the spring 3,384 were given toxoid treatment against diphtheria, the inspector reported.

"The school population is now so well protected against these two diseases that an outbreak of either cannot reach sizeable proportions," he said.

At a meeting of the property committee of the board, R. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools was instructed to investigate the cost of constructing a gymnasium at Strathcona high school.

Mr. Sheppard was also asked by the committee to open negotiations with the provincial government concerning the establishment in Edmonton of accommodation for the training of children who are hard of hearing. It was pointed out that a survey had been made and it was found that only 35 pupils at present attending public schools in this city, are hard of hearing and it was reported that the majority of these were minor cases.

URGE NEW ARRANGEMENT

One of the trustees said that there are a number of children with defective hearing who are sent to schools in Eastern Canada at the expense of the provincial government. It was felt that if provision for their training were made here, such an establishment might also provide accommodation for similarly afflicted children from adjacent provinces and that it would be less expensive than the present arrangement.

TCA Increases
Accommodation

Trans-Canada Air Lines announces, through D. S. McLeod, district traffic manager, that effective Feb. 1 a 100 per cent increase in passenger accommodation will be made available to civilian and wartime travellers with the inauguration of a third daily flight between Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge and over TCA's transcontinental route between Vancouver, Lethbridge and Montreal.

On the revised schedules, the planes will leave Edmonton for Lethbridge, the east and the west at 2:30 a.m., 8:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. The new arrival times at Edmonton will be 1:50 a.m., 8:05 a.m., and 1:05 p.m. One feature of the revision is that it will enable a passenger leaving Edmonton in the early morning to arrive in New York at 8:55 the same evening.

Additional passenger accommodation will be provided by using fourteen passenger Lockheed aircraft on all transcontinental flights. The Lockheed has been popularly acclaimed as the world's fastest commercial air transport.

It is the established policy of Trans-Canada Air Lines to hire for flight duties only men from the armed forces. Except in unusual cases the door is closed, for the time being, to all others. The inauguration of the new transcontinental flight was made possible by the additional men made available by the air force after they had completed their tours of operation on the battle fronts.

Urge Agreement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—The United States yesterday virtually called for an agreement between the Chungking government of China and the North China communists. At a press conference the acting secretary of state, Joseph C. Grew, reminded both sides that the United States stands ready to use its "friendly good offices" in bringing them together.

Sitdown Strike

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—(CP)—More than 250 employees of the Campbell Soup Co. plant at suburban New Toronto who staged a sitdown strike yesterday morning in protest against the company's alleged refusal to pay "layoff" wages, were still in the plant last night. All production in the food-processing plant has stopped.

Points for Parents

Your Baby
And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERED

I am always happy to pass on words of encouragement about babies who are very tiny at birth. Their slower growth is so often upsetting and discouraging to parents who would see them leap along in step with children who were the ordinary weights of 6 to 8 pounds at birth.

Mrs. D. E. K. has full term, twin babies who weighed only 2 pounds 6 ounces and 2 pounds 2 ounces at birth. "They stayed in the hospital for six weeks," she writes, "and when I took them home they only weighed 4 pounds 2 ounces and 3 pounds 14 ounces. They came home with high temperatures and bloody noses, all in all quite sick."

"Their long stay in the hospital had cost us so much money that we were flat broke and couldn't even afford a nurse. Nor could we move into more commodious quarters."

"Yet, at 8 months of age they both sat alone and suddenly two teeth were seen. Now at one year (almost) they walk around their playpen, they say a few words and understand many things that are said to them. They each have five teeth."

"The biggest one at birth now weighs 16 pounds and over, and measures 28½ inches, the other 15 pounds and 27½ inches. They have had small-pox vaccinations and all other necessary immunizations. Our doctor thinks they are getting along fine and thought their case would make a very interesting story."

I am sure other mothers of tiny babies would have been interested to know your formulas for them—as I would have been—and whether they are now eating as other, well-cared-for year-old babies do at one year of age. That would have completed the picture for us.

It is also heartening to mothers of tiny babies to know that in a year or so their development can be so nearly normal, with every hope that within another year or two they will have caught up with babies whose birth weight was so much more of an advantage to them.

May I say, since you omitted to state that it is wise to feed tiny babies according to their weight rather than their age? To feed them otherwise might be too great a strain on their feeble digestions. With this in mind, the ordinary feeding charts can be useful for the under-weights.

Our leaflet on, "The First Six Weeks" contains information of value to the mothers of premature. It may be had, by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

Even small children cannot feel kindly toward a mother who publicly calls attention to their mistakes.

Miss Katherine Leahy Married To Lt. R. E. Donahue, USAAF

Tall, lighted tapers, vases of white flowers and ferns, made an attractive altar setting in St. Joseph's cathedral Wednesday at 11 a.m. for the marriage of Miss Mary Katherine Leahy, daughter of Mrs. Bernard M. Leahy of Calgary and Lt. Raphael Egan Donahue, USAAF, son of Mrs. John A. Donahue, of Newburgh, N.Y. The Rev. Father O. B. O'Brien officiated at the nuptial mass.

Given in marriage by Lt. Col. L.

B. Markey, US Army, the bride wore a white lace over tulle gown fashioned on long torso lines with a slight train. Buttoned with tulle-covered buttons at the back, her frock had a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her veil of finger-tip length was held with one gardenia, and she carried a powder puff bouquet of gardenias and sweetheart roses. A single strand of pearls was her only piece of jewelry.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth Welsh, cousin of the bride. Miss Margaret A. Leahy of Calgary, sister of the bride, was a second attendant.

FLOWER GIRL

Little Diane Rowley was flower girl.

Best man was Lt. Ernest Young, USAAF, and ushers were Lt. Philip Lynch, USAAF, and Lt. William Guild, USAAF. Miss Shirley Neher was soloist.

Mrs. Leahy, mother of the bride, was smartly attired in a turquoise blue afternoon frock complemented by a black hat trimmed with pink feathers and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Donahue wore a black ensemble, ermine hat and corsage of red roses. Miss Anna Egan, aunt of the bridegroom, was also present.

Mrs. Leahy, mother of the bride, was smartly attired in a turquoise blue afternoon frock complemented by a black hat trimmed with pink feathers and a corsage of pink roses.

RECEPTION

A reception to 80 guests was held at Mme. P. Dow's where the bride's table was set with a lace cloth and centered by a three-tiered cake flanked by bouquets of white and pink carnations and white and pink tapers.

Pouring tea were Mrs. Floyd M. Baker, Mrs. Arthur Higginbottom Jr., and Mrs. W. M. McKee. Servers were Miss Jean Ebb, Miss Nancy McCalla, Miss Helen DeRousse, and Mrs. Dorothy Hamm.

Miss Mildred Hamm and Mrs. W. J. Morrison.

Lt. Young proposed a toast to the bride.

The couple took a trip to Banff by plane. The bride has been employed in Edmonton for some time with the US army finance department.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Egan and Mrs. Donahue, aunt and mother of the bridegroom, from Newburgh, Mrs. F. W. Gow, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Wise and Mrs. Leahy, mother of the bride, Calgary; Mrs. J. D. McLean, and Mrs. M. Buchanan, Fort Saskatchewan.

Lt. and Mrs. Donahue will take up temporary residence in Edmonton.

who represents the Edmonton branch at the annual meetings in Ottawa whenever possible.

CHEST CANVAS The Community Chest canvas this year was directed by Mrs. R. D. Watts for the VON. All members assisted with the enterprise.

The nursing service she explained, is maintained by financial assistance, allocations of special gifts and comforts for the sick from various sources.

Mrs. G. E. Kitchen, treasurer, said that receipts for 1944 were $8,276; cash in the bank Dec. 31, 1944, amounted to $1,438 and disbursements for 1944 were $6,838.

Mrs. M. H. Conquest, MBE, called for her Red Cross work in the city, was guest speaker, and told of her experiences with the VON nurses during her two years' of illness.

She said the VON nurse wears a smile no matter what the weather or what life brings to her. She takes an interest in the entire life of her patient and give him or her more than care and better health. She gives them courage and an impulse to life.

"A nurse does something in life we do not see. She has a valiant attitude to pain and death. God bequeathed the nursing profession to women as he bequeathed wifehood and motherhood. Nursing is a profession that man has left entirely to women. Even in the olden days, before Christ, men turned to women when it came to caring and comforting the sick."

Mrs. Conquest paid high tribute to the VON nurse, and said that Edmonton should be proud of this wonderful service.

Tea was served to members, nurses and their guests in the drawing room of the hotel. Mrs. R. D. Watts and Mrs. Robert Jones poured tea. Members of the Club Victorian assisted with the serving. Miss Shirley MacDonald was soloist accompanied at the piano by Miss Neida Faulkner.

Officers were elected several weeks ago and are republished as follows: honorary president, Mrs. P. W. Jean, president, Mrs. J. H. Wildman; vice-presidents, Mrs. F. H. Norburn, Mrs. J. Bartleman; Mrs. A. L. Marks, Mrs. A. S. Duchs; secretary, Mrs. P. A. Rounney; and treasurer, Mrs. G. E. Kitchen.

Calendar The annual banquet of the Edmonton General Hospital Nurses' Association will be held Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. Phone 2611 for reservations before Jan. 27.

TODAY'S Range in Grain Prices MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—(CP)—In a hesitating market, prices drifted downward today on the Toronto Exchange to net small index losses throughout. The golds looked a little stronger in the afternoon and gains predominated in the medium-price and junior list. The Yellowknife issues finished around ten prices for the day.

LONDON STOCKS

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(Reuters)—With a cessation of recent profit-taking movement, stock markets today took on a steadier tone. Woolworth stores were again a feature of industrial, gaining one shilling and 10 pence. Distillers Limited were prominent among beverages, rising two shillings to 109 shillings and sixpence. International dollar stock were easier. British funds again were firm.

WESTERN CANADA PRECIPITATION MAP

SHOWING PRECIPITATION FROM AUGUST 1st TO OCTOBER 31st, 1944 AS COMPARED WITH THE AVERAGE OF 10 YEARS OR MORE

The precipitation which occurred last fall over the prairies was 12% less than normal, which means that the crop to be seeded this coming spring will have somewhat less moisture reserves available than usual. This in turn means that if an average crop is to be enjoyed, then better than normal rains will have to fall during the coming summer months. The odds, of course, are some-

Edmonton Receives New Year Wishes
Best wishes for a victorious and happy New Year are contained in a letter received by Mayor John W. Fry from W. Frey, mayor of the Borough of Edmonton, London, Eng.

In the letter Mayor Frey intimates that a second Spitfire airplane, Edmonton II, has been put into service as a result of the Spitfire fund in which Edmonton, Alberta, co-operated with the British borough in purchasing.

Artillery Unit Entrained Here Five Years Ago

Just five years ago on Jan. 24, 1940, one of Edmonton's two artillery units, the 61st Field Battery, RCA, left for overseas. It was a bitterly cold day but the men's spirits were high and many relatives and friends were at the CNR station to see the boys away, and to wish them good luck and a speedy return.

Since that memorable day the battery has had many pleasant and interesting experiences, and many not so pleasant. While quartered in the south of England, the unit was in the thick of the great German air raid which commenced in August, 1940 and continued throughout the winter and spring of 1940 to 1941.

QUARTERS HIT

On one occasion two large houses occupied by the battery were demolished by a 2,000 pound bomb which fell in the roadway outside. Fortunately it was in the early evening and only a few men were in the houses and of these all but one escaped injury. On another occasion a large German bomber passed low over the unit's camp and several hits were scored on it with the result that it came down in a field a short distance away.

HISTORIC COUNTRY

The battery also took part in all the anti-invasion operations of 1940 and 1941 in the course of which the men saw a great deal of the south and midlands of England with its great store of historical monuments of the past.

About two years ago the battery was converted from tractor drawn guns to self-propelled guns and is now officially styled the 61st Field Battery (S.P.).

For the last year the Battery has been on active service in Italy and has taken part in all the operations of last summer and the present winter campaign. The Battery was one of several units which distinguished themselves in the break through of the Hitler line last May.

Many of the officers and men have won awards for gallantry, one of the recent ones being Sgt. H. A. Swinton of Tofield who was awarded the Military Medal for saving his gun and detachment after the gun had received a direct hit from an enemy shell.

The battery was recruited and taken overseas by Lt. Col. F. A. Ford, ED, who has returned from Italy and has now resumed the practice of law in the city. While in Italy, Col. Ford met many of the original members of the unit and was able to give their families and friends first hand news of them.

A number of the original members have been in Canada recently under the 30 day leave plan and it is expected that all who left the city in January 1940 will have returned within the next few months.

Plane Carrying Bracken Makes Unexpected Stop

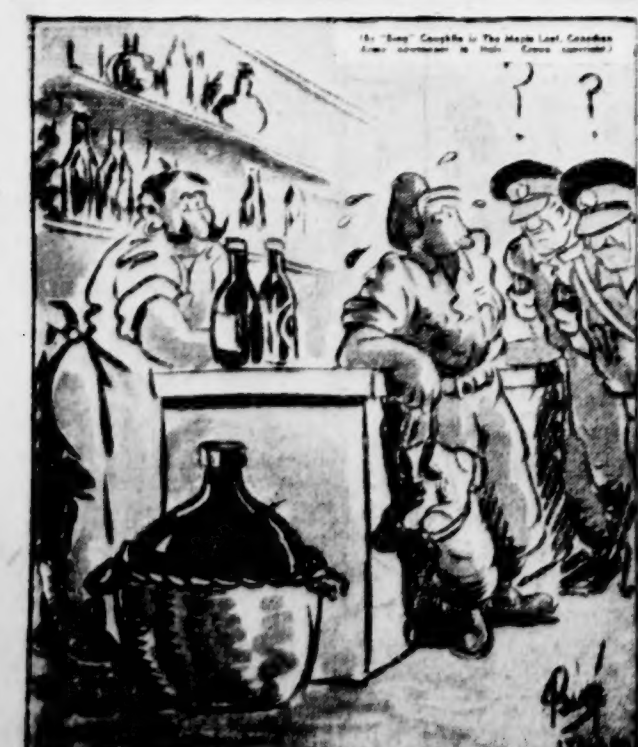

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(CP)—The plane in which John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, was returning to the United Kingdom from Italy made an unscheduled landing last night at a base on the continent because of weather conditions, it was learned early today.

Melville R. Jack, Mr. Bracken's secretary, said he did not know the details but added there had been no mishap and that Mr. Bracken was expected to arrive in England later today.

The Progressive Conservative leader is scheduled to speak at Owen Sound, Ont., Jan. 27 in connection with the current by-election campaign there.

Manitoba Teacher Shortage Serious

WINNIPEG, Jan. 24.—(CP)—Manitoba education minister J. C. Dryden, told the Manitoba School Trustees' Association here yesterday that there is a serious shortage of teachers in the province. He said the supply of teachers is about 600 short of the required number and it is possible that the shortage might increase. Special measures are being considered to insure that schools will be kept open, he added.

SHE WILL APPRECIATE A BOOK—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire is sponsoring a campaign to raise $300,000 to provide libraries for the armed services. Above is shown a nursing sister in the Canadian Army serving in Italy and after receiving some IODE books she wrote: "I would like to tell you how delighted I and the other Canadian girls with this unit were when your splendid parcel of books arrived. They will help pass many an hour during the cold wet weather which is starting in earnest now. We find it almost impossible to get reading material for either ourselves or our patients. Thank you so much."

Canary Society Elects Officers

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Edmonton Roller Canary Society was held in the IO OF Hall, 103 street. President W. H. Driscoll reported a successful year, and that the singing contest held in December was the largest in the history of the society.

The following officers were elected:

ed for 1945: President, W. H. Driscoll; 1st vice, E. Stanforth; secretary, T. Retallack; recording secretary, H. C. Hunter; committee, W. M. Allen, S. M. Smith, W. G. Slomcombe, auditors, K. Swan and C. Stein.

Resumes Practice Of Law in the City

Following service with the Canadian forces since the outbreak of war and service overseas since Jan. 1940, Lt.-Col. F. Armour Ford, ED, has resumed law practice in Edmonton. He is a member of the law firm of Newell, Lindsay, Emery and Ford.

He entered the non-permanent artillery in 1932, joining the 61st Field Battery, RCA, as a gunner. He was commissioned in May, 1933, and rose to the rank of major, and to the command of the battery in 1934.

On the outbreak of war the 61st Field Battery was mobilized for service overseas by Major Ford, as he then was in command. War service of the battery commenced on Sept. 1, 1939, two days before the declaration of war.

He proceeded overseas in command of the battery on Jan. 24, 1940, and on May 15, 1941, was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and to the command of the 3rd Field Regiment, RCA.

In October, 1943, he proceeded to Italy and went to the front in January, 1944. He served at the front on the Adriatic, and during the battles of the Gustave and Hitler lines, until June 15, 1944, when he was posted for duty in England. Later he was posted for duty in Canada, returning to the Dominion in October, 1944. He is now a member of the reserve of officers, and was released from active duty on Jan. 18 last.

Germans Unable To Get Penicillin

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(Reuters)—The Germans during their four-year occupation of France were unable to obtain the life-saving drug penicillin, due to a "strike" of the best French scientific brains, Louis Rapkine, head of the French scientific mission in England, said yesterday. The French scientists refused to go on with their work.

HATS

First Heralds of SPRING!

Hats in a fiesta combined with a Mardi Gras... as thrilling as the opening chapter of Mrs. Skeffington... as soothing as a siesta... as realistic as a Miniver rose... as inspiring as a gentle breeze from southern climes. Hats... as confident as Dietrich in assurance, glamor and beauty. Fur felts, straws (trade name), feathers, flowers. Black, brown, lime, French fuchsia, violet, soft pink, Victory red.
